A Narrative History of the Bishops Missouri

The first Episcopal service in what would become the Diocese of Missouri was held in St. Louis on Oct. 6, 1819. The growth of the Church on what was still the nation's frontier was a series of starts and stops until the General Convention of 1835 took a serious interest in the missionary work to be done. The Convention elected Jackson Kemper as missionary bishop to the West.

Bishop Kemper was born Dec. 24, 1789, and consecrated during the General Convention on Sept. 25, 1835. He arrived in St. Louis that December and immediately set to work organizing congregations all along the Missouri and Mississippi rivers. His work led to the organization of the Diocese of Missouri on Nov. 6, 1840.

Bishop Kemper convinced the Diocesan Convention meeting in 1843 that it was ready to elect its own bishop, at the same time disqualifying himself. Bishop Kemper devised a plan by which the Diocese would call a rector for Christ Church in St. Louis with the understanding that whoever they called would be elected bishop by General Convention when it met the following year. The Convention proceeded to call the Rev. Cicero Stephens Hawks to be rector and General Convention followed suit by electing him the first Bishop of Missouri, consecrating him on Oct. 20, 1844.

Bishop Kemper would continue his missionary work, becoming Bishop of Wisconsin in 1859. He died on May 24, 1870.

Bishop Hawks led the Diocese in continued growth and saw it through the Civil War. But by war's end, he was in poor health and relied on neighboring bishops to visit his far-flung diocese. He died on the Sunday after Easter, April 19, 1868. He would have been 56 on May 26 of that year.

Shortly after Bishop Hawks' death, the Diocesan Convention elected the missionary bishop Daniel Sylvester Tuttle to be the second bishop of Missouri, but Bishop Tuttle declined, saying his work in the mountain states was unfinished. The Convention reconvened and elected Charles Franklin Robertson, who was consecrated on Oct. 25, 1868. Bishop Robertson, who was born March 2, 1835, would oversee establishment of Episcopal hospitals in St. Louis and Kansas City and congregations for African-Americans. But he would die young, at age 51 on May 1, 1886.

Just days after Bishop Robertson was buried, a special meeting of Convention again elected Daniel Sylvester Tuttle. This time he accepted, becoming the third Bishop of Missouri on Aug. 9, 1886. Born on Jan. 26, 1837, he had been consecrated a bishop on May 1, 1867. At age 30, he was the youngest man ever consecrated a bishop in the Episcopal Church. In 1888, Bishop Tuttle saw the consecration of Christ Church as the Diocese's cathedral and, in 1890, the splitting of Missouri into two dioceses, the present-day Diocese of Missouri and the Diocese of West Missouri.

When Presiding Bishop Thomas Clark died on Sept. 7, 1903, Bishop Tuttle, because he was senior among American bishops, became Presiding Bishop. As was the custom, he continued as Bishop of Missouri while carrying out his duties as Presiding Bishop. Taking into account Bishop Tuttle's age and dual roles, Diocesan Convention elected Frederick Foote Johnson, then Bishop of South Dakota, as bishop coadjutor in 1911. He became coadjutor on Jan.

Born on April 23, 1866, and consecrated a bishop on Nov. 2, 1905, Bishop Johnson would serve a long coadjutorship as Bishop Tuttle refused to step down and died in office on April 17, 1923. By then, Bishop Johnson was 57 and in poor health from heart disease. He would only serve 10 years, retiring on Nov. 8, 1933. He died on May 9, 1943.

Bishop Johnson's health led to the election of William Scarlett, then dean of Christ Church Cathedral, as bishop coadjutor. He was consecrated on May 6, 1930, and succeeded as the fifth Bishop of Missouri on Nov. 8, 1933, although, in practice, he had assumed full responsibility for the Diocese from the day of his consecration. He would see the Diocese through the depths of the Great Depression and World War II and became widely respected for his outspoken support of social justice causes.

When Bishop Scarlett announced he would retire by the end of 1952, Diocesan Convention met on Nov. 1, 1950, and elected Arthur Carl Lichtenberger as bishop coadjutor. He was consecrated the following year on April 5. Bishop Scarlett was true to his word, stepping down on Nov. 1, 1952. Bishop Scarlett, who had been born on Oct. 3, 1883, died at the age of 89 on March 28, 1973.

Bishop Lichtenberger was the sixth Bishop of Missouri and the first born in the 20th century, on Jan. 8, 1900. He continued Bishop Scarlett's work on social issues and laid the groundwork for the Diocese's future financial well-being. However, his time in Missouri was to be shortened by his election to Presiding Bishop on Oct. 11, 1958. Under canon law, he had to resign as Bishop of Missouri and did so on May 15, 1959. He served as Presiding Bishop until 1965 and died on Sept. 3, 1968.

Diocesan Convention met on Dec. 4, 1958, and elected George Leslie Cadigan as bishop coadjutor. He was consecrated on April 16, 1959, and became the seventh Bishop of Missouri a month later, on May 15. His episcopacy was marked by an emphasis on ecumenism and social work. He retired on April 16, 1975, just four days after his 65th birthday.

William Augustus Jones, who was elected by Convention the previous Dec. 7, was consecrated the eighth Bishop of Missouri on May 3, 1975. Bishop Jones ordained the first women priests for the Diocese and instituted changes that gave greater emphasis to democratic governance of the Diocese. He called for a coadjutor at Convention in 1989.

In October 1990, Convention elected Hays Hamilton Rockwell as coadjutor. He was consecrated March 2, 1991, and succeeded as the ninth Bishop of Missouri when Bishop Jones retired on Jan. 21, 1993, just three days before his 66th birthday. His episcopacy has stressed greater concern for the poor and the Diocese's place in the greater Church.

Bishop Rockwell, who was born on Aug. 17, 1936, called for a coadjutor at Convention in November 2000. On Nov. 3, 2001, a Special Meeting of Convention elected George Wayne Smith bishop coadjutor.

Rules of Order

1. During the Convention, committees shall be appointed at the discretion of the Bishop and shall include:

- a) Admission of New Parishes and Lay Credentials,
- b) Constitution and Canons,
- c) Dispatch of Business,
- d) Resolutions.

2. All Convention Committees shall be appointed by the Presiding Officer unless otherwise ordered.

3. The Secretary shall forward all proposed resolutions to the Resolutions Committee in sufficient time to enable it to submit its recommendations to the Members of Convention in a timely fashion.

4. All resolutions from the floor shall be reduced to writing, presented to the Secretary, and read to the Convention. A resolution from the floor that is not a part of a committee report may be introduced only at the time indicated in the Order of Business. All resolutions from the floor, whether or not a part of a community report, after receiving a short explanation from the presenter, must receive a two-thirds majority vote of the Convention before it may be considered by the Convention.

5. When any member speaks to the Convention, he/she shall address himself/herself to the President, state his/her name and church, and confine himself/herself to the point in debate.

6. A member, other than the Chairman of the Committee whose report is under consideration, shall not speak more than twice in the same debate, nor longer than five minutes at a time, without leave of the House.

7. Any member of the House may call for a vote by hands or standing vote. Every member who may be in the House when such a vote is called shall be counted unless he/she be excused by the Convention.

8. When a question has been determined it shall stand as the judgment of the House, and shall not again be drawn into debate except on motion of reconsideration which must be made by a member who had previously voted in the majority.

9. Except as otherwise herein stated, Roberts Rules of Order shall prevail during presentation and debate of resolutions and motions.

10. All questions of order shall be decided in the first instance by the Presiding Officer without a debate; an appeal may be made from this decision to the Convention by any member of the same.

11. The reports of all Committees shall be in writing, and shall be received without motion for acceptance, unless recommitted for a vote of the House. All reports recommending or requiring any action or expression of opinion by the House shall be accompanied by a resolution for the action of the House thereon. All annual reports shall be received and filed by the Secretary as presented before or during the Convention, and may be called upon motion to be read and considered at any time during the Convention.

12. The names of movers of resolutions shall appear in the minutes of the Convention.

13. All motions and resolutions requiring reference shall be referred, so far as possible, to the Permanent Committees of Convention.

14. Except in cases where the majority vote is required by the Constitution, all elections provided for by Canon shall be by Preferential Aggregate Transfer Ballot.

a) Each elector shall mark his or her ballot by numbering the names of all of the candidates for each office in order of preference, with the preferred name being numbered 1. The elector shall not give more than one number to any name, nor shall any names be left unnumbered. Any ballot which does not comply with the directions given in this section will be invalid and will not be counted.

b) The persons appointed by the Presiding Officer to conduct the election shall count each valid ballot by assigning to each candidate that candidate's rank-ordered number on the ballot.

c) The candidates shall then be ranked according to the respective sums of their rank-ordered numbers, beginning with the lowest sum, and the candidate or candidates with the lowest sums shall be elected, according to the number of vacancies to be filled.

d) In case of a tie in which one or more candidates must be selected, that candidate or candidates with the highest number of first-place ballots shall be elected; and if the tied candidates have the same number of first-place ballots, then the candidate or candidates having the highest number of second-place ballots shall be elected, and so forth; and if the tied candidates have the same number of ballots at every rank, then the candidate or candidates to be elected shall be chosen by the toss of a coin.

15. The Presiding Officer may, having left the Chair, enter into the debate on any question, but shall not then resume the Chair until the main motion under consideration has been disposed of.

16. Once the Order of Business has been approved it may not be altered except by a two-thirds majority vote of the Convention, provided that the Presiding Officer may reorder agenda items at any time.

17. The following Order of Business shall be observed:

Rationale for the PAT balloting system:

1. As opposed to those preferential systems in which only some ballots are transferred, it ensures that every vote on every ballot is counted toward the result of the election; this fact has two good side-effects:

a) By counting all of the lesser preferences, PAT preserves and expands on our current intention of permitting many voices, not just the majority, to be heard;

b) By requiring each elector to state a preference for each candidate, PAT combines the speed of a single-ballot election with a close approximation of a multi-ballot election in which the electors are not allowed to abstain (the canon, the rules of order, and our current balloting system all restrict a voter's right to abstain, so the continuation of the restriction is consistent);

2. With the use of a computer spread-sheet program, PAT permits simple and easy counting of the ballots; again there are good side-effects;

a) Among the many preferential systems possible, PAT involves the least manipulation of ballots and thus gives the most direct effect to the intention of the electors;

b) By eliminating manipulation of the ballots, PAT also eliminates situations in which the tellers' choices or the random order in which ballots are counted can influence an election;

3. While the requirements of formal phrasing may make any rule of order seem somewhat confusing, PAT is basically a simple idea: add up all the preferences, and the person most preferred by the most people wins; this simplicity should make PAT relatively easy to explain to the electors and should make them more confident about the effect their ballot will have.

Additional Rules of Order for the Special Meeting

It is contemplated that the Additional Rules will be taken up for adoption on Nov. 3 immediately following the adoption of the General Rules of Order, and before Convention takes up its substantive business.

Additional Rule 7.b sets forth the manner in which further nominations for the office of bishop coadjutor may be received by petition in advance of Convention. Since such petitions must be received in sufficient time for the necessary background checking to be completed, I have taken action under Article V.1 of our Diocesan Constitution to give Rule 7.b temporary force of authority, subject to a vote of reversal by Convention on Nov. 3. The other Additional Rules are subject to Convention's vote of approval on that date.

Oct. 5 is the Committee for the Election of a Bishop Coadjutor's designated publication date. Accordingly, the deadline for submitting petitions conforming to Rule 7.b to nominate other candidates is 5 p.m., Oct. 12, 2001. Any such petitions will be received at the Diocesan Office, Fifth Floor, 1210 Locust St., St. Louis, MO 63103 (marked to the attention of the Secretary of Convention).

Minutes of the Special Meeting

Special Meeting of Convention
To Elect a Bishop Coadjutor
EPISCOPAL DIOCESE OF MISSOURI
Christ Church Cathedral, St. Louis, Missouri
November 3, 2001

Session I

Bishop Hays H. Rockwell, informed that a quorum was present, declared the Special Meeting of Convention to elect a Bishop Coadjutor to be in session.

Bishop Rockwell then called upon the Rev. Harvel Sanders, the rector of Grace Church in Jefferson City, to lead us in prayer.

After a period of silent prayer, Sanders continued as follows:

Come, O Holy Spirit, come. Come as the wind and cleanse. Come as the fire and burn. Open our minds and hearts to discern your will. AMEN.

Bishop Rockwell made announcements about registration, about addressing the Convention, and about the signing of Testimonials of Election by voting delegates at the conclusion of this special convention.

He then appointed the Rev. Nathaniel Pyron, rector of St. Matthew's, Warson Woods, as secretary of Convention; and Edwin S. "Ned" Fryer, chancellor of the Diocese, to serve a parliamentary advisor to the chair.

Bishop Rockwell then asked the secretary of Convention to give the report of the Committee on Lay Credentials. Pyron reported that all congregations of the Diocese had paid or negotiated their diocesan assessments for the year 2000, that all congregations had paid their Pension Fund assessments for the year 2000 and, therefore, the clergy and delegates from all congregations were eligible for seat, voice, and vote.

Pyron also proposed that the Rules of Order as distributed in the Convention packets be adopted as the Rules of Order for this Special Meeting of Convention. The motion was seconded and the Rules of Order were adopted unanimously.

The Chair then called on Fryer to explain and call for action on the Proposed Additional Rules of Order for this Special Meeting of Convention. Fryer noted that additional proposed rules dealt with specific questions and issues that may arise at episcopal elections.

Fryer also cited two changes in the original draft of the proposed additional rules which previously had been mailed to clergy and delegates. The first change recommended the use of one sergeant-at-arms, instead of several sergeants-at-arms, and several marshals. The second change proposed that the presiding officer be given the discretionary authority to limit discussion and debate preceding each ballot after the second ballot.

Fryer moved for adoption of the additional rules of order and the motion was seconded. There was no discussion and the motion passed unanimously.

Bishop Rockwell then recognized those individuals appointed last year to those committees that have served, and are serving, this Special Meeting of Convention. He noted that not all Convention committees have had a role to play in the preparation and execution of this special event and he would only recognize those Committees that have had such a role.

Appointed by Bishop Rockwell and listed as follows:

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS: Nicholas Clifford

MARSHALS: Lynette Ballard, Marian Clifford, William Cornelius, Lawrence George, and James McGahey.

TELLERS: Terri Denicke, Georgia O'Brien, Emily Peach, Susan Wegner, and Desiree Viliocco.

Bishop Rockwell then introduced the Chair of the Committee for the Election of a Bishop Coadjutor, the Rev. Canon John C. "Jack" Danforth.

Bishop Rockwell then noted that three of the four candidates for bishop coadjutor are priests and one is a suffragan bishop. If one of the priests is elected, he will be consecrated on March 2, 2001. If the bishop suffragan is elected bishop coadjutor, there will be a celebration of new ministry on that date. From that date, and in accordance with national Canon III.25.1(c) the new bishop will have full responsibility for the following areas of diocesan life:

- The discernment and ordination process for everyone seeking to be ordained.
- Board membership and oversight of diocesan-related institutions and organizations, e.g., St. Luke's Hospital, St. Andrew's Resources for Seniors, etc.
- All confirmations and reception; all mission congregations; some congregational visitations.

The duties that Bishop Rockwell will retain will include the following:

- All those listed in Title II of the Diocesan Constitution, that is, those pertaining to Bishop Rockwell being the Ecclesiastical Authority, Apostle, Chief Missionary, Chief Priest and Pastor, and Chief Executive Officer of the Diocese.
- The Presidency of the Corporation of the Diocese.
- The chairmanship of Diocesan Council.
- All matters of ecclesiastical discipline.

Bishop Rockwell announced that these duties, and all else pertaining to the work of the diocesan bishop, will be yielded to his successor on June 6, 2002, at a ceremony at Christ Church Cathedral in St. Louis.

Danforth expressed his appreciation to all the members of the Committee for the Election for their hard work on behalf of the Diocese which commenced last January.

Members of the committee were introduced and asked to stand. They are as follows:

Mr. Joseph Adams, the Rev. Andrew Archie, Ms. Ginger Cornelius, Ms. Ida H. Early, Mr. Edwin "Ned" Fryer, the Rev. Dan Handschy, Ms. Daun Hooley, Ms. Jane Klieve, Mr. Carl Muench, Ms. Virginia "Ginny" Russell, the Rev. Harvel Sanders, the Rev. Dr. Lydia Agnew Speller, the Rev. Marylen Stansbery, and Ms. Bonnie Taylor.

The committee reviewed all responses and invited eight candidates to visit the diocese. The committee visited six of these candidates in their communities.

After prayer, travel, work, and deliberation, the committee selected four candidates which Jack Danforth then placed in nomination in alphabetical order as follows:

- The Rev. Dr. Andrew MacBeth, of Eastern Shore Chapel, Virginia Beach, Virginia.
- The Rt. Rev. Rodney Michel, D.D., bishop suffragan, Diocese of Long Island.
- The Rev. Dr. Wayne Smith, of St. Andrew's Church, Des Moines, Iowa.
- The Rev. Raymond Webster, of St. Chrysostom's Church, Chicago, Illinois.

Bishop Rockwell asked the Secretary if there had been further nominations by petition. No petition nominations had been made. Bishop Rockwell announced that the nominations were closed.

Fryer reported that all canonical conditions precedent to the election of a bishop coadjutor had been satisfied and that all four nominees, therefore, were canonically eligible to stand for election.

The chair recognized Robert Brown, a member of the Committee on Dispatch of Business and director of Communications of the Diocese, who explained the details of balloting.

There were no questions asked of the Committee on Dispatch of Business about how the balloting and counting process would be conducted and so the chair announced that we would proceed to balloting.

The first balloting for Bishop Coadjutor was conducted and after announcement that voting was closed, the chair called on the Rev. Dr. Warren Crews of Emmanuel Church, Webster Groves, dean of the School for Ministry and chair of the Committee on Resolutions, to make his first report.

Crews submitted and moved each of the following resolutions which were each approved by applause:

BE IT RESOLVED that this Special Convention of the Diocese of Missouri assembled at Christ Church Cathedral, this third day of November 2001, express its gratitude to the Committee on Dispatch of Business, Edwin Fryer, the Rev. Nathaniel Pyron, and Robert Brown for the efficient and judicious way in which this Special Convention was organized.

BE IT RESOLVED that this Special Convention of the Diocese of Missouri assembled at Christ Church Cathedral, this third day of November 2001, express its profound gratitude to the Committee for the Election of a Bishop Coadjutor, John Danforth, chairman; Joseph Adams, Andrew Archie, Ginger Cornelius, Ida Early, Edwin Fryer, Dan Handschy, Daun Hooley, Jane Klieve, Carl Muench, Virginia Russell, Harvel Sanders, Lydia Agnew Speller, Marylen Stansbery, and Bonnie Taylor for their diligence, for the faith in the presence of the Holy Spirit, for their compassion, and for their efficiency in shepherding us through this process to its conclusion. We applaud their faith, recognizing the magnitude of their task. We extend to them our thanks and assure them of our prayers. Finally, we move this Convention to a standing tribute to them for a job well done.

BE IT RESOLVED that this Special Convention of the Diocese of Missouri, assembled at Christ Church Cathedral, this third day of November 2001, express its deep appreciation to Coleen Kashif, who worked countless hours caring for the organizational and logistical needs of the Committee for the Election of a Bishop Coadjutor and the candidates they interviewed, all with efficiency, good humor, and grace.

BE IT RESOLVED that this Special Convention of the Diocese of Missouri assembled at Christ Church Cathedral this third day of November 2001, express its deep appreciation to Grace Church, Kirkwood, and its rector, the Rev. C. Gregory Hein; St. Peter's Church, Ladue, and its rector, the Rev. James H. Purdy; and Grace Church, Jefferson City, and its rector, the Rev. Harvel R. Sanders, for hosting the three very informative "walk about" sessions with the four nominees.

BE IT RESOLVED that this Special Convention of the Diocese of Missouri assembled at Christ Church Cathedral, this third day of November 2001, acknowledge its debt of gratitude to those who graciously shepherded the various candidates and nominees in their visits to St. Louis: Charles Allen, Peter Bunce, Nick and Marian Clifford, William E. Cornelius, Baker and Georgeann Cunningham, Sondra Ellis, Deborah Goldfeder, Mike and Lisa Gibbons, Jeannette Huey, Cindy Huermann, Cindy Johnson, Jim and Annette Markham, Vicky Meyers, Jim and Ruth Moore, Jim and Judie Neville, Harry Richter, Tom and Kathy Rogers, John and Mydie Sant, and Molly Strassner.

BE IT RESOLVED that this Special Convention of the Diocese of Missouri assembled at Christ Church Cathedral, this third day of November 2001, heartily thank the Friends of the Cathedral, Marge Bowman, president, and James McGahey, vice president, for their provision of refreshments. In the midst of such serious mental and spiritual work, it is a blessing to have our physical needs met in such a delightful way.

Bishop Rockwell called upon Sanders to lead us in prayer. Sanders read from I Corinthians 12:4-6, 11-13, and then prayed. After prayer the convention sang Hymn 580, "God who Stretched the Spangled Heavens."

Announcement was made of the results of the first ballot as follows:

In the Lay Order: 120 votes were cast requiring 61 votes necessary to elect. MacBeth received 41 votes, Michel received 22 votes, Smith received 34 votes, and Webster received 23 votes.

In the Clerical Order: 60 votes were cast requiring 31 votes necessary to elect. MacBeth received 18 votes, Michel received 9 votes, Smith received 22 votes, and Webster received 11 votes.

There was no election on the first ballot, and we proceeded with the second ballot.

During counting of the second ballot, the chair called upon Sanders to lead us in prayer. After time for silent prayer, Sanders concluded as follows: Come, O Holy Spirit, Come. Come as the wind and cleanse. Come as the fire and burn. Open our minds and hearts to discern your will. AMEN.

Following Prayer, the Convention sang hymn 583, "O Holy City Seen of John."

The announcement of the results of the second ballot was made as follows:

In the Lay Order: 121 votes were cast requiring 61 votes necessary to elect. MacBeth received 41 votes; Michel received 12 votes; Smith received 47 votes, and Webster received 21 Votes.

In the Clerical Order, 60 votes were cast with 31 votes necessary to elect. MacBeth received 21 votes; Michel received 5 votes; Smith received 26 votes, and Webster received 8 votes.

There was no election on the second ballot. Bishop Rockwell announced that the third ballot would follow noonday prayers and lunch and that convention would reconvene at 1 p.m.

Session II

Bishop Rockwell called this second session of the Special Convention to order and before proceeding to the third ballot, reminded Convention that Rule 11 of Additional Rules of Order provided that with no candidate elected on the second ballot, the Convention may, upon motion duly made, seconded, and passed by a majority of the votes cast, permit subsequent balloting to be preceded by discussion and debate of the candidates on the floor of Convention. Bishop Rockwell entertained such a motion. The motion was made and seconded. There was no discussion of the motion. The motion was defeated. We then proceeded to the third ballot.

After voting was closed, the chair asked Sanders to lead us in prayer. After a period for silent prayer, Sanders concluded with this prayer: Come Holy Spirit, Come. Come as the wind and cleanse. Come as the fire and burn. Open our minds and hearts to discern your will. AMEN.

Then the Convention sang Hymn 525, "The Church's One Foundation is Jesus Christ."

The results of the third ballot were announced as follows:

In the Lay Order: 121 votes were cast requiring 61 votes necessary to elect. MacBeth received 45 votes; Michel received 3 votes; Smith received 66 votes, and Webster received 7 votes.

In the Clerical Order: 58 votes were cast requiring 30 votes necessary to elect. MacBeth received 19 votes; Michel received 3 Votes; Smith received 31, votes and Webster received 5 votes.

The chair announced, "We have an election," and applause followed.

The chair further declared, "In as much as the Rev. G. Wayne Smith received a majority vote of both orders, I hereby declare that he has been elected bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of Missouri on the third ballot."

Convention stood in recess for 15 minutes to allow Bishop Rockwell to call Wayne Smith, inform him of the election, and determine his willingness to accept.

Upon reconvening, Bishop Rockwell announced that Smith accepted the election "with humility and joy." (Applause.)

Bishop Rockwell also noted that Smith "sends his love and looks forward to being with us as we look forward to his being here."

The chair then read the Testimonial of Election Statement and, again, reminded electors to come forward to sign the testimonials upon adjournment of Convention.

The chair asked the Rev. Dr. Warren Crews to come forward and present the final resolutions to Convention. These were each moved by Crews and approved by applause. Each one is recorded as follows:

WHEREAS, as the culmination of a year-long process, this Special Meeting of Convention of the Diocese of Missouri assembled at Christ Church Cathedral, this third day of November, 2001, has elected the Rev. Dr. G. Wayne Smith as bishop coadjutor, ultimately to become the tenth Bishop of Missouri, and

WHEREAS, the said Wayne Smith has indicated his acceptance of the will of this Special Meeting to become said bishop coadjutor;

We offer him our very best wishes for the future.

BE IT RESOLVED that this Special Convention of the Diocese of Missouri assembled at Christ Church Cathedral, this third day of November 2001, does extend its deepest gratitude to the Right Reverend Rodney R. Michel, D.D., for his participation in our search for a bishop coadjutor. Our prayers and thanks go to him for his patience and commitment in the process. We offer him our very best wishes for the future.

BE IT RESOLVED that this Special Convention of the Diocese of Missouri assembled at Christ Church Cathedral, this third day of November 2001, does extend its deepest gratitude to the Rev. W. Raymond Webster for his participation in our search for a Bishop Coadjutor. Our prayers and thanks go to him for his patience and commitment in the process. We offer him our very best wishes for the future.

BE IT RESOLVED that this Special Convention of the Diocese of Missouri assembled at Christ Church Cathedral, this third day of November 2001, as we prepare to adjourn rejoicing in the successful conclusion of our work, express our affection to our Bishop, the Right Reverend Hays H. Rockwell, and thank him for once again presiding over our gathering with wisdom and grace. (Applause and standing ovation.)

Bishop Rockwell adjourned this Special Meeting of Convention and asked the Convention to stand for a blessing: Go forth into the world in peace; be strong and of good courage; show no one evil for evil; love and serve the Lord; and may the blessing of God Almighty, the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit, be among you and remain with you forever. AMEN.

Minutes of the 162nd Meeting

Plenary Session I, Friday, Nov. 16

The Rt. Rev. Hays Rockwell, bishop of Missouri, called the Convention to order at 5:30 p.m., Nov. 16, 2001.

The opening prayers were by the Very Rev. Michael P.G.G. Randolph, interim dean of Christ Church Cathedral.

The Rev. Nathaniel Pyron was appointed secretary and Ned Fryer, chancellor, was appointed as advisor to the chair on parliamentary questions.

All congregations were entitled to seat, voice, and vote according to the canons.

The Rules of Order previously adopted at the Convention to elect a bishop coadjutor were adopted.

Ned Fryer moved that St. Andrew's, Northwoods, be dissolved. The motion carried.

Bishop Rockwell recognized those appointed to serve on the 162nd Convention committees.

Bishop Rockwell introduced the Rev. Dr. George Wayne Smith, bishop coadjutor-elect, who spoke of the "life-giving and spirit-soaked adventure of the mission we will have together."

The chair called upon the Rev. Dr. Richard Tudor to introduce the nominees —

Clergy Deputy to General Convention:

The Rev. Seamus Doyle
The Rev. Larry Hooper

Samuel Mounger was nominated and elected unanimously to serve as trustee for the University of the South, his term ending with the 165th Convention.

Nicholas Clifford, vice chairman of the Diocesan Council, made his report.

Eunice French gave the report of the Companion Diocese Committee and introduced visitors from the Diocese of Puerto Rico. She reported the committee was recommending that the Diocese continue in its companion relationship with the Diocese of Puerto Rico for three years. A motion was made and amended to not include an end time to the commitment (meaning, it could be renewed again for a three-year period in 2004). The motion passed unanimously.

Mary Jane Kuhn gave the report of the Cathedral Mission Society, reporting that the Society was being dissolved.

The Rev. Dr. Warren Crews, chair of the Resolutions Committee, made the first report of that committee, introducing courtesy resolutions showing gratitude and appreciation for the following: Convention Committees, Diocesan Staff, Cathedral Staff, and Diocesan Council.

Warm greetings were sent to the Most Rev. Frank Griswold, presiding bishop; the Rt. Rev. George L. Cadigan, seventh bishop of Missouri; the Rt. Rev. William Jones, eighth Bishop of Missouri, and Maggie Jones.

Bishop Rockwell introduced clergy new to the Diocese: The Rev. Melanie Barbarito, vicar of St. Francis, Wildwood; the Rev. Kamila Blessing, on the staff of Emmanuel, Webster Groves; the Rev. Wallace Caldwell, vicar of Trinity, Kirksville; the Rev. Robert Franken, a vocational deacon serving Thompson Center; the Rev. Gary Hamp, interim pastor at Emmanuel, Webster Groves; the Rev. Kitty Hillquist, vicar of St. Paul's, Ironton; the Rev. Ralph McMichael Jr., theologian-in-residence at St. Michael & St. George, Clayton; the Rev. Dawn-Victoria Mitchell, assistant to the rector at Calvary, Columbia; the Rev. Sabi Sarkissyan, Arabic minister at Good Shepherd, Town & Country; the Rev. Clifford Smart, supply priest at Trinity, De Soto; the Rev. David Stock, assistant to the rector at St. Peter's, Ladue; the Rev. Dr. Darlene Tittle, priest-in-charge at St. Stephen's, St. Louis; the Rev. Robert Towner, rector, Christ Church, Cape Girardeau; and the Rev. Dr. Peter Van Horne, vicar of All Saints, Farmington.

The Bishop then gave his Address. He began by awarding the Bishop's Medal to the Rev. Emery Washington Sr., retiring rector of All Saints/St. Louis; and to Edwin S. Fryer, retiring as chancellor of the Diocese.

In his address, the Bishop touched upon last events in his episcopacy, expressed his gratitude to the Committee for the Election of a Bishop Coadjutor, and rejoiced at the election of the Rev. Dr. George Wayne Smith.

He talked about his efforts to persuade the Diocese to see itself as part of the larger Church and his work with the Diocesan Council to establish mission priorities.

He also spoke of the effort to raise $4 million in capital funds, the growth of Campus Ministry and the Episcopal School for Religion.

He regretted the Diocese's poor record regarding urban ministry, but rejoiced in the calling of priests in the small congregations in Cape Girardeau, Farmington, Ironton, and Kirksville.

He said he grieved over our lack of concern for protecting and sustaining the environment.

He praised the Diocesan Staff for its support.

He ended his address with "a note of gratitude" for the Diocese having entrusted him with his ministry since 1990, for the friendship and hospitality shown him and Linda.

The Convention adjourned for the evening.

A reception was held in Schuyler Hall.

Plenary Session II, Saturday, Nov. 17

Bishop Rockwell appointed Harold Burroughs as chancellor of the Diocese and to serve as parliamentary advisor to the chair.

The chair called upon the Rev. Dr. Richard Tudor to explain the Preferential Aggregate Transfer Balloting System and to conduct elections for diocesan offices and the Cathedral Chapter.

Tudor moved that the Rev. Rod Wiltse and Mary Kay Horton be elected by voice vote to serve on the Cathedral Chapter. The motion was approved unanimously.

Following the voting, the Rev. Charles Morris introduced the guests from the Diocese of Puerto Rico, who made a presentation to Bishop Rockwell in appreciation for his friendship.

The chair called upon William Cornelius, treasurer of the Diocese, to present the 2002 Program Budget. It was noted that it would be Cornelius' last budget presentation. He is stepping down and will be succeeded by Richard Clark.

Cornelius summarized that the Diocese was in good financial condition and moved that the budget be adopted as approved by Diocesan Council. The motion was seconded. There was no discussion. The motion passed unanimously.

The chair called upon Dr. Katherine Jahnige to give the report of the Commission on Faith, Health, and Justice. She reported that the commission has drafted a curriculum focusing on telling and listening to stories about healing and wholeness and health care concerns.

The chair recognized the Rev. Jason Samuel, chair of the 20/20: A Clear Vision Committee. He explained Resolution C-161 and its mandate to double the size of the Diocese by the year 2020. He said it was not about "market share" but about articulating our faith to others by being genuine in how we live it. He said the committee will be working with the New Witness Committee and Congregational Development. He added that town hall meetings were being planned.

The chair recognized the Rev. Canon Susan Nanny, chair of the Urban Mission Committee. She reported that the committee is planning a one-day event in 2003 to serve as a laboratory to explore ways to help households get ahead and not just get by.

The Bishop nominated the following to the Ecclesiastical Court:

Carl Muench

Harry Richter

Virginia Russell

The Rev. Jack

Fleming

The Rev. Dr. Lydia Speller

The Rev. Harvel

Sanders

The Rev. Steve Weissman

A motion was made and seconded to approve the nominees and passed unanimously.

The Bishop nominated the following to the Commission on Church Architecture and Allied Arts:

The Rev. James Purdy

Clarence

Turley

Robert Elsperman

A motion was made and seconded to approve the nominees and passed unanimously.

The chair recognized the Hon. Jean Hamilton, vice chancellor of the Diocese and chair of the Committee on Constitution and Canons. She asked that the Rev. Dr. Warren Crews present Resolution D-162.

The resolution was amended by consent of the Resolutions Committee and the sponsors of the resolution (Metro IV) thus:

Strike "and the special Committee on Diocesan Structure" in line 7; replace "such Special Committee" in lines 8 and 9 with "Diocesan Council;" and replace "to" in the last line with "no later than."

Resolution D-162, as introduced, reads:

"Be it resolved by the 162nd Convention of the Diocese of Missouri that the Diocesan Convocations each review policies relating to representation by lay delegates to the Convention, including but not limited to the minimum and maximum number of lay delegates allocated to each parish or mission, and report their conclusions and recommendations no later than March 31, 2003, to the Diocesan Council in order that Diocesan Council may recommend any amendment to the Constitution of the Diocese and such other actions as may be appropriate to address such concerns no later than the 164th Convention."

The resolution was moved and seconded and approved by an overwhelming majority.

In light of this action, Judge Hamilton indicated that the Committee on Constitution and Canons moved postponing indefinitely a proposed amendment to a provision of the Diocesan Constitution "in first reading," namely Sect. 6, Art. III regarding Membership of Convention. The committee also moved postponing indefinitely a proposed amendment to various provisions of the Constitution "in second reading," namely Sect. 6 and Sect. 8 of Art. III.

The motions were seconded. There was no discussion. The motions passed overwhelmingly.

Judge Hamilton reported on the work of the Structure of the Diocese Committee and the committee's report saying it found no need at this time to change the structure of the Diocese. It did recommend strengthening communication, Convocations, vestry-delegate relationships, and delegate education and orientation.

Dr. Crews continued his report of the Resolutions Committee, submitting Resolution A-162 concerning Standard Compensation for Clergy as submitted by Diocesan Council. The resolution was moved and seconded. During discussion it was clarified that deacons in the resolution are "transitional" as opposed to "vocational." An objection was made to there being a difference in compensation between a deacon and a priest. The motion carried.

Resolution B-162 concerning efforts to broaden participation in the councils of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese was submitted by Metro III. It read:

"Be it resolved by the 162nd Convention of the Diocese of Missouri that the 163rd Convention of the Diocese of Missouri conduct its formal business within 24 hours beginning at 5:30 p.m. on Friday and ending on Saturday; and be it further resolved that this Convention strongly encourages the Bishop that future Conventions adopt this format for subsequent Annual Meetings of the Diocese."

The resolution was moved and seconded. During discussion, an amendment to remove the second resolve regarding future conventions was moved, seconded, and passed.

A substitute motion that Convention alternate between a one-day and a three-day format was defeated. During the discussion, Bishop Rockwell exercised the privilege of the chair and spoke out against the one-day format, saying it did not leave enough time for people to visit with each other nor did it allow the bringing in of special guests such as Archbishop Desmond Tutu.

The original motion on Resolution B-162 as amended was defeated.

Resolution E-162 concerning Safe Spaces for Sexual Minorities was submitted by the Oasis Missouri:

"Be it resolved that the 162nd Convention of the Diocese of Missouri commend the Rt. Rev. Hays H. Rockwell, ninth bishop of Missouri, for his leadership in the full inclusion of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgendered persons in the Church while making it clear that there is a place in our Church for varied beliefs on the mysteries of human relationships; and be it further resolved that this 162nd Convention encourage the congregations of this Diocese to participate in educational and discernment programs such as those offered by the Oasis Missouri in order to become safe places for lesbians, gays, their families, and others who understand themselves to be a part of a sexual minority to tell their stories and be heard with love, care, and an assurance of appropriate confidentiality."

The resolution was moved, seconded, and carried, but not unanimously.

The following courtesy resolutions were submitted:

Thanking St. Luke's Episcopal-Presbyterian Hospital for making its printing services available free of charge.

Sending greetings to the Rt. Rev. David Álvarez of Puerto Rico and welcoming our guests to Convention.

Greetings to the Islamic Community of St. Louis and eastern Missouri at the beginning of the holy season of Ramadan.

Gratitude to the Rev. Canon John Danforth for his work as chair of the Committee for the Election of a Bishop coadjutor and his role in peacemaking in Sudan.

All of the above were approved by applause.

Resolution F-162 concerning a study of ways to increase youth and young adult participation in Church government was submitted late by the Rev. Seamus Doyle. A two-thirds vote of Convention allowed the resolution to be considered on the floor.

“Be it resolved by the 162nd Convention of the Diocese of Missouri that the Diocesan Council direct its mission group on Youth and Campus Ministries to study existing and potential methods of creatively involving youth and young adults in all levels of church leadership; and be it further resolved that the Youth and Campus Ministries mission group make regular reports to Diocesan Council regarding the progress of this study; and be it further resolved that the Diocesan Council report its results and recommendations to the 163rd Convention.”

The resolution was moved, seconded, and after a brief discussion, passed, but not unanimously.

The Rev. Dan Handschy, president of Standing Committee, gave his report on Standing Committee.

The chair noted that the usual collection of coins in the UTO Blue Boxes would not happen this year as the chair of that committee, Peg Cooper, was recovering from knee surgery. The chair praised the work of the UTO.

Dr. Crews submitted the following courtesy resolutions:

Gratitude to the Standing Committee and its retiring members.

Gratitude to the officers of the Convention for its success.

Thanking Bill Cornelius for his service as diocesan treasurer.

Boundless gratitude toward Edwin Fryer for his service as chancellor.

Gratitude and admiration for the Rev. Emery Washington Sr. upon his retirement as rector of All Saints/St. Louis after 18 years and for his work to combat racism.

Gratitude for the ministry of the Rev. Patricia Williams as deputy for pastoral care upon her retirement after 10 years.

Holding the Rev. Dr. Wayne Smith and his family in prayer and thanking him for consenting to serve as the 10th bishop of Missouri.

Gratitude for Linda Rockwell’s ministry among us.

Thanking God for the ministry of the Rt. Rev. Hays H. Rockwell as he completes his work among us and looks forward to retirement.

All of the above were approved by applause with the last one accompanied by a standing ovation.

The chair called upon the Rev. Robert Franken, interim director of the Thompson Center, to make a report on the status of the center.

The following reports were accepted by title:

The Companion Diocese Committee

St. Andrew’s Resources for Seniors

University of the South

Council Mission Group on Congregational Development

The bishop asked that Convention set the 163rd Convention in Cape Girardeau as guests of the South Convocation in the period of Nov. 21–23, the configuration of that time to be determined by the Ecclesiastical Authority. The motion was made, seconded, and passed unanimously.

The Bishop made the following appointments:

Bishop's Address

The months since our last diocesan convention have been filled with last times for me.

I have had a series of last-time visitations in congregations. I have done Confirmations for the last time. I have been a guest at my last annual meeting of Episcopal Church Women. I stand here at the last of the diocesan conventions while I am your bishop. If ever there was a time for mixed feelings, this is it. Relief and regret are met in me in a hundred ways. I know relief because the burden of my responsibilities is beginning to lift; I feel regret at the prospect of parting from a work that I cherish and from people who have come to matter greatly to me.

So, awash in the tide of those mixed feelings, I come to you with my final Convention Report.

We get our bishops in this church by electing them. The church we come from in England gets its bishops when the nice monarch appoints them; but we get ours when people's representatives cast ballots, and we've done it that way since 1789. Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit of God, Episcopalians have always elected their bishops. Fresh from the experience of electing Wayne Smith to be the next bishop of Missouri, I rejoice in the way we do things. In particular, I am grateful for the thoughtful, prayerful way in which the Committee for the Election of a Bishop Coadjutor went about its task. That representative committee gave us four outstanding candidates. We elected one outstanding priest to be our bishop. I want again to thank Jack Danforth and the members of that Committee for a brilliant job which got a brilliant outcome. And, I want to thank every one who attended those meetings with the candidates in October and every one of the delegates to the Special Election Convention who came out on a beautiful Saturday and upheld our vital and democratic way of choosing our leaders.

For all of the pride we Episcopalians take in the way we do things as a church – like electing our bishops – we act most of the time like congregationalists. I suppose it's natural in a way. You spend nearly all of your time as an Episcopalian in your congregation. But it's of the nature of being Episcopalians that we are part of a wider community than the congregation, part of the diocese, part of the national church, part of the worldwide Anglican Communion. Among the works of the bishop is to remind congregations and individual Episcopalians that this is so. I sometimes think it is the hardest work.

When I arrived as bishop a decade ago I was struck by what seemed to me an especially muscular form of congregationalism. Among other things, diocesan life seemed to me to be marked by a sharp separation between many of the congregations and the office of the bishop. It came to me that it was among my first tasks to try to change that, to try to connect the resources of the diocesan office with the mission of the congregations in such a way that the unity of the church, which I pledged to uphold when I was ordained a bishop, would become conspicuous in our diocese. In my naive way, I assumed that could be done in short order. In fact, I spent the first five of my ten years as bishop working to persuade congregations that they belonged to the wider church and that their membership in the wider church had the potential to enrich the lives and ministries entrusted to them by God. Some of the ways I proceeded were not very popular – like the required assessment, adopted by Convention in 1994, based on a graduated income formula. It was not popular, but it caused Vestries and Bishop's Committees, at budget-making time, to take seriously their membership in the wider church. More importantly, it provided an equitable way to build up diocesan resources to give support and encouragement to congregations.

In that same period we responded to the requirements of the national church by creating effective training about sexual misconduct and abuse for all who work in our congregations. Early in my time, a special committee did a careful job of finding us a partner in the wider Anglican Communion, linking us to the life of the church in Puerto Rico, a covenant that matters greatly to very many of our congregations and to our common life.

Then, in the representative governing body which is Diocesan Council – a small version of this Convention – we set about to establish common mission priorities, beginning by asking ourselves what God had in mind for us to do as a community of Episcopalians in the eastern half of the state of Missouri. You remember. We said that we thought God wanted us present in the neighborhoods of poverty, siding with those who live there. We said that we thought God wanted us on the campuses of colleges and universities in our diocese ministering to young people at a critical time in their development. We said we thought God wanted us to look after clergy and their families. And, we said that we believed God wanted us to develop and build, and build up the congregations, to help congregations to become stronger and deeper in the faith, and larger. It took time to settle on those priorities and time to get about making them manifest in our common life. What we found as we went about that work was that we lacked the material resources we needed.

So, and this is the main story of the next five years of my time among you, we set about to raise money. We managed that, gathering $4 million in gifts and pledges from the generous likes of you. It is now a resource with which to carry out the mission priorities we had agreed upon and to begin to restore the Tuttle Building to be a graceful center for our common life. Of course I'm grateful for the money. But my real gratitude comes from knowing that every congregation took part in that campaign. No exceptions. Some did more than others, of course, but every single congregation did something. It is a sign of our awakening to the truth that to be Episcopalians is to belong to a church beyond the congregation.

Some very good things are under way because of that awakening. We have vigorous campus ministries in more places than we have had in a long time. One outcome of those campus ministries is an increase in young people – young people! – wanting to be ordained. Seven of those are now in training and another two are waiting in line to go to seminary, with a longer line of aspirants behind them. At the same time, out of a fresh sense of what a diocese can be, we have established a School for Ministry, which brings together human resources – teachers – not easily available to most congregations. The mission of our school is to help prepare people for lay ministry and for the vocational diaconate.

Some good things are under way, but there is a lot that hasn't happened. Our record in urban ministry is appalling. I assume a large share of the blame for that failure, and the shame. I came to you as a city priest, with strong convictions about ministry in the city, but those convictions have not been translated into an effective urban strategy. Nor have we found the way to make the witness we need to make in small communities and rural areas. Here I brought less experience, but no less conviction that our church needs to be as present and vital in small cities and towns as in the metropolitan area. It's not easy. Many small communities are losing population. Resources are diminishing. But with greater imagination, perhaps about applying the provision in the Canons which encourages ordained ministries which are raised up from congregations and trained locally, we can find the means of revitalization in small communities. At the same time, it delights me to report that within the last year we have attracted experienced, seminary-trained priests to the small cities of Cape Girardeau and Farmington, and to the towns of Ironton and Kirksville. There is much left to do. We need to be very much stronger in Pike County and the Bootheel, for example.

I grieve that I have been unable to sponsor among Missouri Episcopalians a concern for the protecting and sustaining of the environment. Like my predecessor, I believe that people of Biblical faith have a special calling to care for the gifts of the natural world, but that has not become part of our diocesan mission agenda.

I hope and trust that will change.

I have taken this as an occasion to look back over the ten years when I have been your bishop, and largely neglected the near past. The year since the Convention of 2000 has included things worthy of mention, like the appointment of committees mandated by the last convention in the areas of health care and urban ministry and taking up the national church's challenge to double the size of our communion by the year 2020. You will be hearing from the leadership of each of these groups in the course of the meetings on Saturday. It's worth noting that among the visitors to the diocese in the last year have been two archbishops: Michael Peers of Canada, who supplied a Lenten day of reflection for our clergy, and preached in our cathedral, and Bernard Malango of Central Africa, who preached in our cathedral, and met with clergy and lay people in our home. Such visitors connect us to the Anglican Communion and strengthen our local witness.

I can't close without mention of our diocesan staff. It is a remarkable, faithful company of servants. They are the living evidences of what a diocesan center ought to be: A resource to the congregations. As such, the diocesan staff supply you with accurate information (including electronically); they raise up new ministries among the young; they provide innovative and workable approaches to education in the faith; they give you guidance and encouragement when you seek a new priest; they step into the midst of conflict in the congregation and help to bring resolution and healing; they offer completely confidential counsel to individuals and families facing emotional or financial distress; they support small, voluntary organizations within the church which provide for a variety of needs; they give you help when you're perplexed about church finances and insurance and property, helping immediately to untie knots and connecting you to others who can help. All of that is what a diocesan office is for, and I feel deeply grateful for the gifted and generous women and men who serve you and me from our diocesan office. I want them, please, to stand.

I come to the end of this final report of mine. When President Eisenhower came to the end of his last speech as President, he had some warnings to issue about what he presciently saw as a dangerous "military-industrial complex." I considered issuing a few warnings; but in the end, what I feel is not cautionary at all. What I feel is grateful. Grateful for the ministry entrusted to me by an electing convention in 1990. Grateful for your engaging with me in that ministry. Grateful for the friendship which has been mine and Linda's at your hospitable hands. Someone once wisely said about friendship that it is the gift God gives us to supply us with "a joy worthy of [our] destiny...[and] an incentive to carry on the works of God in a world of sorrows." (M. Marty, Friendship.) So far as I am able to carry on the works of God in the days and years ahead, it will have a lot to do with your friendship.

20/20 TaskForce

The purpose of the 20/20 Task Force is to respond to the resolution and mandate of the 73rd Convention of the Episcopal Church, and the 161st Convention of the Diocese of Missouri. Last year, our Convention passed resolution C-161 concerning "20/20: A Clear Vision."

The basis of this resolution calls all members of the Diocese to embrace this evangelism initiative, committing the Episcopal Church to doubling its members by 2020. It calls us to do this over the next 20 years by 1) working to develop healthy, serving, and inviting congregations; 2) plant new congregations; and 3) increase our ministry presence among minority groups, youth, and college students.

The task force is in its early stages of development and planning. However, there is already a commitment and focus to developing a vision and plans that are true to genuine, authentic evangelism and church growth.

First, there is an understanding among us that the 20/20 initiative cannot be about getting a better "market share" of people into the church, or about making our membership rolls look better. If 20/20 is to happen, it must be a commitment of the clergy and laity to faithfully and joyfully sharing the good news of Jesus Christ.

As congregations and individuals, we must be able to articulate our faith and be genuine in how we live it. We must ask the question, "If people come to our church, what do we have to offer them that can change their lives?" Are we ready to answer their questions such as, "what does it mean to be a Christian?" Therefore, if we are to commit to making disciples for Jesus Christ and building up the Church, the real nature of the evangelical undertaking must be looked at by all in the Diocese.

Let me comment on some of the goals and initial work we see before us as the 20/20 Task Force. We have shared at some length about our purpose and role and that we will need to fine tune our focus and set specific goals that will include as many people throughout the Diocese as possible.

Also, we believe it will be important to work together and communicate with the New Witness Committee and Congregational Development. We will work to be of assistance to the bishop coadjutor in helping with a vision for growth as he begins his new ministry. The task force will work to bring the best of both Episcopal and non-Episcopal training groups/ministries to the Diocese, noting the importance of considering the work of "outside" groups for church growth training.

There is a need for specific training for smaller congregations, with an understanding that "growth" includes understanding "vitality," not just physical numbers one of our goals that we would like to see happen before the next convention, is to plan an event(s) during the new bishop's first year that would be a diocesan town hall-type meeting of "Sharing Our Faith."

This would allow us and the Bishop to hear from the people of the Diocese what their hopes, dreams, challenges, and visions are for the future of the Episcopal Church in Missouri. Members of the task force would be there to facilitate, ask and field questions, and mostly listen. Then, after hearing from the people of the Diocese, help access what specific goals and actions we might take to accomplish the task of 20/20, such as lay and clergy training and development of ministries, congregational and diocesan.

St. Andrew's Resources for Seniors

Celebrating a 40-year history of serving older adults, St. Andrew's continued in 2001 to live its mission to nurture the spirit of older adults and the community through the creation and support of choices and options.

St. Andrew's Resources for Seniors (STARS) — To mark its 40th anniversary, STARS initiated the "Celebration of Life" project with future plans calling for creation of a photo book and gallery exhibit celebrating older adults and their accomplishments.

Mary Alice Ryan, St. Andrew's president/CEO, completed her second term as chair of the board of directors of the American Association of Homes and Services for the Aging. As bard chair, Mrs. Ryan provided oversight and direction for the national organization's more than 5,360 not-for-profit members, including nursing homes, and retirement communities, assisted living, and senior housing facilities, and senior-related community service organizations.

Brooking Park, Chesterfield, continued to lead the way in the provision of skilled care, assisted living, and Alzheimer's/dementia residences and services for seniors. Brooking Park is owned and managed by St. Andrew's.

The Willows at Brooking Park, Chesterfield — St. Andrew's continued careful planning for and development of this retirement community, which in 2002 is being built on 13 acres adjacent to Brooking Park. First occupancy is expected mid-2003. The Willows will feature 180 one- and two-bedroom apartments, numerous fine amenities and services; and, with Brooking Park, will complete a continuing care retirement community on one campus.

Tower Grove Manor, South St. Louis — With its 115 retirement apartments and traditional grace, Tower Grove Manor continues to be a familiar and trusted home to St. Louis-area older adults. Among Tower Grove Manor's community contributions is its participation in the Meals on Wheels program, through which the retirement community provides more than 9,000 meals annually to neighborhood seniors.

Mizpah Manor, Bridgeton, a joint venture of Mizpah Presbyterian Church and St. Andrew's, Mizpah Manor marked its first anniversary with an open house that celebrated its residents, staff, assisted living accommodations and services. The 30-unit assisted living community is known for its cozy, home-like ambience and just-like-family staff.

Low-Income Retirement Communities — Continuing its efforts to serve seniors of limited financial resources, St. Andrew's once again expanded its co-sponsorship of HUD-funded retirement apartments. Zion Corner Apartments, located in south St. Louis and co-sponsored with Mount Zion Missionary Baptist Church, opened its doors to a full complement of 38 residents in January 2001. Construction then began in north St. Louis on the 38-unit Gillespie Village apartments, co-sponsored with Cote Brilliant Presbyterian Church and with an opening date in mid-2002. Plans were also initiated for the expansion of Zion Corner Apartments by another 33 units; development of Friendly Temple Apartments — co-sponsor Friendly Temple Missionary Baptist Church — and Kossuth Apartments — co-sponsor Kossuth Church of God in Christ; plus, expansion of St. Andrew's of Jennings, a low-income retirement community in St. Louis sponsored solely by St. Andrew's. The new senior communities and the expansions are being funded via HUD grants. Other low-income retirement communities sponsored, co-sponsored, or managed by St. Andrew's include Mercy Seat Apartments, St. Louis, co-sponsored by Mercy Seat Baptist Church; William Barnwell Apartments, Perryville, co-sponsored by Knights of Columbus; and Almira Manor, Greenville, Ill., co-sponsored by Greenville College.

St. Andrew's At-Home Services continues to provide cost-efficient care and innovative services to older adults, and their family members, with the goal of helping seniors sustain or improve their quality of life, maintain their independence, and remain in their own homes. At-Home services include geriatric care management and counseling, personal care assistance, nursing care and medication management, live-in support, housekeeping/laundry/cooking assistance, home and lawn maintenance, along with escort, transport, and errand running.

New programs initiated in 2001 are:

The Caring Workplace — Utilizing a grant awarded by the Administration on Aging, At-Home Services initiated the Caring Workplace program which provides supportive and geriatric care management services through the workplace to the employed caregivers of seniors. The model program established within ten St. Louis-area businesses, helps caregivers to better deal with the factors and decisions associated with caring for an elderly loved one. It is expected to benefit not only seniors and their caregivers, but also caregivers' employers by reducing absenteeism, enhancing employee morale, loyalty, and retention.

The CARE Program — Caregivers Access to Resources for Eldercare, funded via a grant from the St. Louis Area Agency on Aging, assists caregivers living in the City of St. Louis, or caregivers who are caring for an older person living in St. Louis. CARE provides counseling, information, and referral, and contact with services that help caregivers manage their situation.

St. Andrew's Spiritual Outreach ministry touches the lives of thousands of homebound and retirement community residents through visits, its informative and inspirational newsletter — more than 8,000 copies annually — and church laity education programs. This special ministry benefits seniors who find it difficult to get out, and provides special training and guidance for church laity that help them to better identify and interact with older church members.

St. Andrew's Management Services (STAMS), a subsidiary of St. Andrew's Resources for Seniors continues to expand its mission to provide development, management, and consultation services to organizations and individuals who wish to supply housing and health services to the elderly. During 2001, St. Andrew's managed 12 senior communities in the St. Louis metropolitan area, including retirement, assisted living, skilled care, and low-income senior housing. STAMS also expanded its consulting, development, and management services into other states. Projects include:

- Development of the Kirksville senior community sponsored by the Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine and to be built on its campus in Kirksville — featuring retirement cottages and apartments and assisted living apartments and services. Construction begins in 2002; first occupancy is expected in 2003.

- Consultation on and development of Villa de San Antonio, San Antonio, Texas — a retirement and assisted living complex sponsored by the Franciscan Sisters of Chicago. Phased construction begins in 2002.

- Development of St. Joseph Village near Dallas, Texas — a continuing care retirement community that will feature retirement and assisted living apartments and services and, ultimately, a skilled nursing care center. Phase one is expected to be completed in early 2003. The senior community is sponsored by an independent Catholic not-for-profit organization.

Faith, Health, and Justice Commission

We are writing to inform this year's Diocesan Convention of our work in response to last year's resolution H-161:

BE IT RESOLVED THAT THE 161ST CONVENTION OF THE DIOCESE OF MISSOURI encourage education, study, and eventual reform of our medical care system, with the goal of creating an affordable, suitable, and just system. The educational component of this effort shall be to inform people about issues in health care, benefits, distribution, cost, and quality; and to promote discussion from a variety of viewpoints. Responsibility for recommending suitable ways of carrying out this education effort shall be assigned to that person or persons designated by the Bishop.

After prayerful consideration, discussion, and review of issues central to our society's current health and health care crisis, we have drafted a curriculum that focuses on two key components of the above resolution: "encouragement" and "promotion of discussion from a variety of viewpoints."

The curriculum begins with the simple and time-honored tradition of telling and listening to stories — our own stories and Biblical stories — of vulnerability and hope in the search for healing and wholeness. Sharing stories helps us recognize these concerns as central to all human experience. We also encourage each parish to explore the ways in which it already addresses health concerns through its ministries.

We anticipate that as communities recognize their common hopes and activities in the search for healing and wholeness they will also discover new curiosities and vocations in this area. The final curriculum will include a list of sources and activities so that each congregation may further pursue a ministry of healing and wholeness according to its own sense of calling.

We have distributed a current draft for the Convention's review. Over the winter and spring, further task will be undertaken as follows:

- Development of introductions and brief interpretations for the Scripture-based stories that accompany each education segment.
- Planning of training sessions for the program facilitators with a particular focus on group dynamics.
- Piloting the program in or two congregations.

Thank you for the opportunity to participate in this exciting work.

Episcopal City Mission

The primary work of the Episcopal City Mission since 1953 has been ministry to young people in custody of the juvenile courts in St. Louis city and county. Beginning in 1988, that work has extended to the young people in long-term residential care at Lakeside Center. ECM is the only funded Episcopal chaplaincy program to youth in detention in the United States, and provides pastoral care to approximately 3,000 juveniles each year. Over the past few years, the Diocese has dramatically increased its support for our program, recognizing that what we do is unique in this community and in the Church.

The St. Louis City Detention Center is served by the Rev. Mickey R. Hassler, who has been a chaplain with ECM since June 1999. That facility is a wing of the Family Court on Vandeventer and Enright avenues, just north of St. Louis University. Since April 2000, the Rev. Julie B. Jennings has been the chaplain to the St. Louis County Detention Center on Brentwood Boulevard in Clayton, the seat of St. Louis County. Supported by the Diocesan Mission Group on Presence Among the Poor and others, Randall Blain began in August 2000 to serve as chaplain to Lakeside Center in St. Louis County. All three ECM chaplains are graduates of Eden Seminary in Webster Groves.

The chaplains minister to the kids and staff of those facilities with religious services, crisis counseling, and a variety of programs addressing self-esteem, violence, grief and loss, and religious issues. This year, each of our chaplains is assisted by a field education student from Eden Seminary. Volunteers from our parishes are at the heart of ECM's work. Parishioners from many churches in the St. Louis area provide monthly birthday parties for the kids in court-based detention centers, bake cookies and brownies, act as "volunteer visitors," provide holiday gifts and school supplies, and participate in Star Wars, Bible studies, and the Reading is FUNDamental programs. Students at Washington University provide tutoring and regular game-playing evenings with the kids at City. We also facilitate the presence in the centers of groups from other religious denominations and traditions.

ECM continues to provide chaplaincy services to the General Protestant Children's Home under a contract with that agency. Two years ago, Sandee Souter became General Protestant's first chaplain in their 120-year history. This year we began a ministry to the young men and women certified to stand trial as adults, who are housed at the City Workhouse. Sr. Mary Ann Dooling, OSU, is ECM's pastoral presence there, supported by an Incarnate Word Foundation grant.

We continue our work with Care & Counseling on the "Project Tamar" youth violence prevention programs at the two detention centers, and in 2001, with a grant from the United Thank Offering, extended that project to Lakeside Center. It has been so successful there that the Lakeside staff are incorporating its "philosophy" into the treatment method of that institution. The Diocesan Mission Group is providing funds to continue that program in the detention centers.

Michael Kramer's "12-Step Addiction to Violence Program," also supported by Mission Group funds as well as other monies, continues with groups of boys and girls at both city and county juvenile detention centers. Significant funding for that program is provided in the 2002 diocesan Program Budget.

The annual budget for ECM's chaplaincy program was $172,000 in 2001, of which we projected to receive $45,000 from individuals, $20,000 from congregations, and $12,000 from the Diocese. The balance of our funds come from foundations, fund-raising events, investment income from our endowment, fees for grant administration, and judicious use of cash reserves.

Episcopal City Mission is led by a dedicated Board of Directors:

The Rt. Rev. Hays H. Rockwell, Bishop of Missouri, president
 Pat Lynn Fitzroy, chair, Grace Church, Kirkwood
 The Rev. Sue Eastes, treasurer, Grace Church, Kirkwood
 The Rev. Patricia Williams, secretary and Bishop's representative
 Richard Baldwin Jr., MD, St. Michael & St. George, Clayton
 Jack Charter, Grace Church, Kirkwood
 David M. Culver, St. Peter's, Ladue
 Forrest Fitzroy, Grace Church, Kirkwood
 The Rev. Jack Fleming, St. Timothy's, Creve Coeur
 S. Allen Heininger, St. Peter's, Ladue
 Arlene Larimer, St. Martin's, Ellisville
 David B. Lemkemeier, St. Peter's, Ladue
 Barbara McCann, St. Martin's, Ellisville
 Ramona Nystrom, Evangelical Free Church
 Wes Proctor, Kirkwood
 Robert W. Streett, St. Michael & St. George, Clayton
 Richard S. Summers, St. Timothy's, Creve Coeur
 Scott Thompson, St. Mark's, St. Louis
 Jackson D. Waterbury, St. Michael & St. George, Clayton
 The Rev. Tamsen E. Whistler, Trinity, St. Charles

The ECM staff members are:

Adrienne Anderson Fly, executive director and director of chaplaincy
 Sara Fishburn, executive assistant
 The Rev. Julia B. Jennings, county detention center chaplain
 The Rev. Mickey R. Hassler, city detention center chaplain
 Randall E. Blain, Lakeside Center chaplain
 Sandra Souter, General Protestant Children's Home chaplain
 Sr. Mary Ann Dooling OSU, City Workhouse chaplain to certified juveniles

All of us who work with ECM are grateful for the support we receive from the people of this Diocese in our ministry to these young people. If you would like to become involved with this work, contact your ECM representative or call the ECM office.

University of the South

The University of the South, popularly known as Sewanee, consistently is identified as one of the best liberal arts colleges in the United States by national college guidebooks and surveys. Sewanee's 10,000-acre forested campus is located on Tennessee's Cumberland Plateau between Nashville and Chattanooga. The 1,300 undergraduate students come from 44 states and 17 countries. Eighty percent are from out of state; 53 percent are women, and 47 percent are men. Student-faculty ratio is 11:1. Of the 125 full-time faculty, 97 percent hold terminal degrees in their field.

The School of Theology, the only graduate school at the uni-

University of the South, is one of 11 accredited seminaries of the Episcopal Church.

The Seminary of 100 full-time students offers several graduate and advanced degree programs focused on training for ordained ministry in the Episcopal Church. The Program Center offers opportunities for laity and clergy to strengthen ministries, religious knowledge, and spirituality in local congregations.

Sewanee is the only university in the country with a college and graduate seminary established and governed by the Episcopal Church. Owned by 28 dioceses in 12 states, and overseen by 20 regents and 147 trustees, Sewanee was founded by leaders in the Episcopal Church in 1857.

The chancellor of the University is a bishop from an owning diocese. The current chancellor is the Rt. Rev. Don Wimberly, assisting bishop of the Diocese of Texas.

Approximately one-third of the undergraduate students are Episcopalians. Lay and clergy trustees are from the owning dioceses of Alabama, Arkansas, Atlanta, Central Florida, Central Gulf Coast, Dallas, East Carolina, East Tennessee, Florida, Fort Worth, Georgia, Texas, South Carolina, Southeast Florida, Southwest Florida, Tennessee, Texas, Upper South Carolina, West Tennessee, West Texas, Western Louisiana, and Western North Carolina.

University Financial Aid

Sewanee consistently ranks as a “best buy” and top-value in higher education. The University is committed to providing need-based financial aid, up to 100 percent of demonstrated need. Forty percent of the undergraduates receive some form of institutional financial aid.

Approximately 93 percent of the seminarians receive financial aid, depending on need and established institutional guidelines. Tuition, fees, room and board for the College of Arts & Sciences in the 2001–2002 academic year are $27,290. In 2000–2001, $8.7 million was awarded in scholarships to undergraduates. Tuition and fees for seminarians at the School of Theology in 2001–2002 is $10,920.

Student Life

Among the 300 graduates from the Class of 2001 were three Watson Fellows, receiving one-year post-graduate fellowships for international research. More than half of the student body participates in community service.

A member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), Sewanee competes in Division III with 21 varsity sports for men and women. In 2000–2001, Sewanee had three students named NCAA All Americans.

The School of Theology this year conferred 31 Master of Divinity degrees, three Doctor of Ministry degrees, two Master of Arts degrees, one Master of Sacred Theology degree, three Anglican studies certificates, and two one-year certificates or diplomas.

Finances and Grants

The University’s 2000–2001 unrestricted operating budget was $54.3 million. Its endowment (as of June 30, 2001) was $233 million. Approximately 71 percent of revenues to the University come from tuition, fees, room and board. Between July 1, 2000, and May 2001, the University received $11.3 million in gifts and grants to enhance study. This mainly came through several generous gifts and bequests from alumni and friends. Competitive foundation grantors include the Lilly Endowment and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

Technology and Buildings

The University is in the midst of implementing a new integrated administrative data system to improve accuracy and efficiency of sharing data across the campus. The School of Theology has put in place an information technology educator to enhance the school’s use of technology in teaching and learning, financed through a Lilly Foundation grant. A new state-of-the-art Academic Technology Center in duPont Library opened in 2001.

McClurg Hall opened in 2001. The $18 million dining space provides an attractive eating and gathering space for students, staff, and faculty.

The Chapel of the Apostles at the School of Theology was dedicated and consecrated in October 2000. The $4 million chapel is the center of worship, spiritual development, and liturgical life of the seminary.

The firm of MacLachlan, Cornelius, and Filoni was selected the summer of 2000 to direct the campus Master Plan and to set directions for facilities and grounds for the next 10 to 20 years. Campus-wide participation helped steer the process. Trustees and regents received drafts of the goals to guide the University’s next capital campaign.

School of Theology

Record applications and full enrollment for 2000–2001 and 2001–2002 brought the seminary to a community of more than 100 students. Several faculty departures, including Professor J. Neil Alexander, who was elected Bishop of Atlanta, brought new teaching appointments in homiletics and contextual education to the school.

Education for Ministry (RFM) has had more than 63,000 people engaged with the program over its lifetime. This year, more than 9,000 students worldwide participated in local congregations, establishing yet another record. Participation in Canada expanded with approximately 500 students enrolled as of July 31, 2001.

Disciples of Christ in Community (DOCC) offers short courses in adult Christian education. In its second year, DOCC doubled the number of groups providing Christian education for young adults ages 16 to 20.

The Church development Institute (CDI) provides two-week summer sessions in congregational leadership.

The Center for Ministry in Small Churches (CMSC), a partnership among several southern dioceses, provides support, resources, and encouragement to churches in small settings.

Independent Auditor's Report

To the Diocese of Missouri –
The Episcopal Church
St. Louis, Missouri

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of the Diocese of Missouri - The Episcopal Church (the "Diocese") as of December 31, 2001 and the related statements of activities and changes in net assets and of cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Diocese's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. The prior year summarized comparative information has been derived from the Diocese's 2000 financial statements and, in our report dated May 11, 2001, we expressed an unqualified opinion on those financial statements.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, such financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Diocese at December 31, 2001 and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The additional information listed in the table of contents is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements. This additional information is the responsibility of the Diocese's management. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in our audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects when considered in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

DIOCESE OF MISSOURI - THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 1 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Financial Statement Presentation

The Diocese reports its information regarding financial position and activities according to three classes of net assets depending upon the existence or nature of any donor-imposed restriction. The following is a description of these classes of net assets:

Unrestricted – Those resources over which the Diocese has discretionary control. Designated amounts represent those revenues that the Diocese has set aside for a particular purpose.

Temporarily Restricted – Those resources subject to donor-imposed restrictions that will be satisfied by actions of the Diocese or the passage of time.

Permanently Restricted – Those resources subject to donor-imposed restrictions that will be maintained permanently by the Diocese. The donors of these resources permit the Diocese to use all or part of the income earned, including capital appreciation, on related investments for unrestricted or temporarily restricted purposes.

Investments

Investments, which include those that belong to the Diocese as well as those held on behalf of others (see Note 3), are stated at year-end market values. The realized and unrealized gains or losses on investments have been reflected in the statement of activities, except for those held on behalf of others (see Note 3).

Pledges Receivable

Pledges receivable are recorded at net realizable value over a five year period from the date of the pledges. An allowance for uncollectible pledges has been provided.

Reclassifications

Certain reclassifications have been made to prior year amounts to make them consistent with the 2001 presentation.

Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

NOTE 1 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)Property

It is the policy of the Diocese not to capitalize purchases of personal property but to include these as expenses in the Statement of Activities. The value of personal property owned by the Diocese is deemed to be immaterial in relation to the total assets of the Diocese.

The Corporation of the Episcopal Diocese of Missouri (COEDMO), a separate corporation incorporated under the laws of the State of Missouri, holds title to certain real properties used by the Diocese. The accounts of COEDMO are not included in the accompanying financial statements.

Income Taxes

The Diocese is exempt from income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

NOTE 2 – INVESTMENTS

Investments as of December 31, 2001 and 2000 are summarized as follows:

The amounts reported as investment gains (losses) in the accompanying financial statements are a result of the following:

- a) The difference in the market values of investments on hand at the beginning of the year as compared to the end of the year.
- b) The difference between the proceeds of sales of investments and the related market values of those investments at December 31 of the previous year.
- c) The difference between the cost of investments purchased during the year and related market value of those investments at December 31, or between the proceeds of the sales of those investments if sold during the respective year.

The per unit market values as of December 31, 2001 and 2000 of the Diocesan Investment Trust were as follows:

NOTE 2 – INVESTMENTS (CONTINUED)Permanently Restricted

Frank C. and Mattie H. Thompson Memorial Trust (“Thompson Memorial Trust”) - This trust was created to continue in perpetuity. Income earned by this trust is to be utilized in any manner so designated by the Bishop of the Diocese. The interest and dividends received from this trust are recorded in the Thompson Income Fund as unrestricted, along with the dividend and interest income relating to the investments held by the Thompson Income Fund.

Kelton E. White and Alma Mayland White Memorial Trust (“White Memorial Trust”) - In December 1994, the Diocese was named the recipient of income earned by this trust, beginning in 1995. Income received from this trust is restricted as to use for fixed asset additions and repairs and as such will be recorded as temporarily restricted.

Shank Memorial Trust - The Diocese is to receive 5% of the net income of this trust as long as the Diocese remains tax-exempt. The income received from this trust is recorded in the Diocesan Program Support Fund.

Realized and unrealized gains and losses on the underlying investments remain in the trusts pursuant to the terms of the trusts and as such are reflected as permanently restricted within the financial statements.

These permanently restricted assets represent funds held in trust by outside fiscal agents for the benefit of the Diocese. The Diocese is not permitted access to the funds held under the terms of the memorial trusts.

NOTE 3 – CUSTODIAL ASSETS

The Diocese acts as custodian of investments for several of its mission congregations and various organizations within the Diocese. As such, the Diocese records the investments and a corresponding liability. These balances are adjusted each year to reflect the current market value associated with the custodial investments. The investments included in the unrestricted balances were $1,937,507 and $2,284,976 as of December 31, 2001 and 2000, respectively.

NOTE 4 – NET ASSETS

Net assets are comprised as follows:

	2001	2000
Unrestricted	$ 10,034,520	$ 9,055,182
Donor restricted
Temporarily restricted - White Memorial Trust Income	2,537,270	2,475,870
Temporarily restricted - Capital Campaign	1,448,898	3,896,746
Total temporarily restricted	3,986,168	6,372,616
Permanently restricted
White Memorial Trust	11,224,369	11,960,647
Thompson Memorial Trust	7,704,712	8,857,453
Shank Memorial Trust	106,269	118,728
Total permanently restricted	19,035,350	20,936,828
Total net assets	$ 33,056,038	$ 36,364,626

NOTE 5 – CONCENTRATIONS OF CREDIT AND MARKET RISK

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Diocese to concentrations of credit and market risk consist principally of cash and investments. The Diocese places its temporary cash investments with major financial institutions and attempts to limit the amount of credit exposure.

The Diocese has a significant amount of investments that are subject to market risk. Market risk is the possibility that future changes in market price may make a financial instrument less valuable.

NOTE 6 – RETIREMENT PLANS

The Diocese has adopted a 403(b) defined contribution plan and a defined contribution church pension fund for its non-clergy employees. The non-clergy employee may elect to participate in either of the two defined contribution plans. The Diocese contributes 10% of an employee's salary to the employee's elected plan for an employee who has at least one year of service and is 21 years of age or older. During 2001 and 2000, the total amounts contributed to these plans were $23,155 and $16,352, respectively.

NOTE 7 – PLEDGES RECEIVABLE

Capital Campaign pledges receivable are expected to be collected as follows:

Year	Amount
2002	$ 408,258
2003	69,295
2004	7,407
	484,960
Less allowance for uncollectible pledges	30,000
	$ 454,960

NOTE 8 – NOTES RECEIVABLE

Notes receivable from parishes and missions for loans from the Kelton E. White and Alma Mayland White Memorial Trust, interest ranging from 4% - 5% due at various dates through 2031, secured by the church properties consist of the following:

	2001	2000
Good Shepherd, Town & Country	$ 147,898	$ 156,355
Mission Church of the Transfiguration, Lake St. Louis	130,304	131,780

	$ 1,950,527	$ 377,410

The amounts are to be collected as follows:

Year	Amount
2002	$ 74,443
Thereafter	1,876,084
	$ 1,950,527

The principal payments return to the Kelton E. White and Alma Mayland White Memorial Trust, while the interest income is paid to the Program Fund.
