Rules of Order as adopted by the 175th Convention

1. The Presiding Officer shall appoint members of Permanent Committees at each Meeting of Convention.

2. All resolutions from the floor shall be reduced to writing, presented to the Secretary, and read to Convention. A resolution from the floor that is not a part of a committee report may be introduced only at the time indicated in the Order of Business. All resolutions from the floor, whether or not a part of a committee report, after receiving a short explanation from the presenter, must receive a 2/3 majority vote of Convention before it may be considered by Convention.

3. When any member speaks to Convention, he shall address himself to the Presiding Officer, state his name and church, and confine himself to the point in debate.

4. A member, other than the Chairman of the Committee whose report is under consideration, shall not speak more than twice in the same debate, nor longer than five minutes at a time, without leave of the House.

5. Any member of the House may call for a vote by hands or standing vote. Every member who may be in the House when such a vote is called shall be counted unless he/she be excused by Convention.

6. When a question has once been determined it shall stand as the judgment of the House, and shall not again be drawn into debate except on motion of reconsideration which must be made by a member who had previously voted in the majority.

7. All questions of parliamentary law not resolved by reference to the Canons or these General Rules shall be decided under Robert's Rules of Order.

8. All questions of order shall be decided in the first instance by the Presiding Officer, without debate; an appeal may be made to Convention by any member.

9. The reports of all Committees shall be in writing, and shall be received without motion for acceptance, unless recommitted by a vote of the House. All reports recommending or requiring any action or expression of opinion by the House shall be accompanied by a resolution for the action of the House thereon. All annual reports shall be received and filed by the Secretary as presented before or during Convention, and may be called upon motion to be read and considered at any time during Convention.

10. The names of movers of resolutions shall appear in the minutes of Convention.

11. All motions and resolutions requiring reference shall be referred, so far as possible, to the Permanent Committees of Convention.

12. Except in cases where majority vote is required, all elections shall be by Preferential Aggregate Transfer Ballot:

a) Each elector shall mark his or her ballot by numbering the names of all the candidates for each office in order of preference, with the preferred name being numbered 1. The elector shall not give more than one number to any name, nor shall any name be left unnumbered. Any ballot which does not comply with the directions given in this section will be invalid and will not be counted.

b) The persons appointed by the Presiding Officer to conduct the election shall count each valid ballot by assigning to each candidate that candidate's rank-ordered number on the ballot.

c) The candidates shall then be ranked according to the respective sums of their rank-ordered numbers, beginning with the lowest sum, and the candidate or candidates with the lowest sums shall be elected, according to the number of vacancies to be filled.

d) In case of a tie in which one or more candidates must be selected, that candidate or candidates with the highest number of first-place ballots shall be elected; and if the tied candidates have the same number of first place ballots, then the candidate or candidates having the highest number of second place ballots shall be elected, and so forth; and if the tied candidates have the same number of ballots at every rank, then the candidate or candidates to be elected shall be chosen by the toss of a coin.

13. The Presiding Officer may, having left the chair, enter into the debate on any question, but shall not then resume the chair until the main motion under consideration has been disposed of.

14. Once the Order of Business has been approved it may not be altered except by 2/3 majority vote of Convention, provided that the Presiding Officer may reorder agenda items at any time.

This resolution was approved, but not unanimously.

Mrs. Dyer then introduced Resolution B-175.

B-175 - Removing Barriers to Access

Submitted by the Rev. Emily Hillquist Davis, Ms. Lisa Fox, the Rev. Knute Jacobson, the Rev. Johnnette Shane, Ms. Julia DeLancey and the Rev. Peter Van Horne

1. BE IT RESOLVED that this 175th Convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Missouri commits itself to a wide diversity of membership on its canonically mandated, diocesan-wide bodies, specifically the Standing Committee, Diocesan Council, Disciplinary Board, and Commission on Ministry;
2. BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Convention commits itself to reducing the disproportionate attendance burden carried by some of the members of the aforementioned bodies, possibly including members residing outside of the St. Louis metropolitan area, members with children, members with disabilities, and members of lower socioeconomic status;
3. BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED this Convention encourages the use of email, video conferencing, or other electronic transmission as a means of reducing travel barriers (such as travel time and travel expense) for members to attend meetings of the aforementioned bodies;
4. BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED this Convention encourages accommodation of all members of the aforementioned bodies when scheduling the time and location of meetings that require the physical presence of its members;
5. BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED this Convention encourages some meetings be scheduled outside of the St. Louis metropolitan area if such scheduling would reduce barriers for members of the aforementioned bodies; and
6. BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED this Convention encourages accommodation of the specific needs of all of its members, including provision of childcare, transportation, wheelchair accessibility, interpreters, and other reasonable accommodations requested by members of the aforementioned bodies.

RATIONALE

In response to a 2012 General Convention resolution, this Diocese in 2012 adopted Resolution D-173 at http://www.diocesemo.org/download_file/view_inline/414/441/:

1. BE IT RESOLVED that this 173rd Convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Missouri request elected and appointed committees, commissions, boards, and task forces of the Diocese to examine barriers that may pose an obstacle to prevent members of the Diocese from fully participating in their work and meetings in light of resolution A096 of the 2012 General Convention; and,
2. BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that they report their findings to the Diocesan Council, which in turn is asked to provide a summary of their findings to the 174th Diocesan Convention, with recommendations to expand participation in Diocesan bodies.

Although the Diocesan Council didn't make a recommendation to the 174th Convention in 2013, several movements toward accessibility have been made. More bodies of the Diocese are conducting their meetings via teleconference and Web sessions. The Episcopal School for Ministry is offering its "Vital Congregations" class at several venues around the Diocese, thanks to an investment of technology, equipment, and support from the Diocese. All these are positive developments.

Our incarnational theology, as well as logic, calls us to make Diocesan participation accessible to all our members. At a time of great change in society, we need the gifts of all our members to make disciples and build congregations for the life of the world.

It is in the best interest of our diocese for our governance and ministries to reflect the full vitality and diversity of the Church. Many of our gifted lay and clergy leaders find significant barriers to accepting service in canonical bodies of our diocese. Many people outside the St. Louis area decline to serve because of the meeting schedules and concomitant travel obligations. Some do not have sufficient control of their work schedules to serve on groups that meet on weekdays or weeknights. Some find the travel expenses and time requirements to be prohibitive. Others barriers include child care, wheelchair accessibility, and signing for the deaf. The current structure of meetings poses a disproportionate obstacle to those in the lower socioeconomic status.

To encourage broader participation in the Diocese, we need to break down the walls that restrict service to those who can afford the travel costs and have control of their schedules to attend weekday/night and weekend meetings. We need to empower all our members to share the gifts they have in service to this Diocese. The "Call for Nominations" form states specific meeting times and places for the candidates we will elect at Diocesan Convention. This resolution asks these committees to offer some flexibility in their schedules, as well as offering the opportunity for people far from St. Louis to attend portions of those meetings virtually. Members serving on these bodies from "out state" usually are required to spend much more time in travel than others.

The child care and sign language accommodations might be met by volunteers, so that it would incur no additional expense. For instance, a member of the Diocese might volunteer to provide child care or signing at a Diocesan meeting.

As an incarnational people, we Episcopalians generally need to get acquainted before we can work effectively together. Nothing in this resolution precludes a Diocesan body from requiring some face to face meetings that would allow its members to become acquainted. However, it urges all bodies to have good reasons for holding routine meetings only in the St. Louis area.

This resolution was approved unanimously

Mrs. Dyer then introduced several courtesy resolutions. Each was affirmed with applause by the Convention.

Retired Bishops – The Rt. Rev. William A. Jones and the Rt. Rev. Hays H. Rockwell

Whereas the Diocese of Missouri has been led by dedicated and faithful bishops,
Be it resolved that this 175th Convention of the Diocese of Missouri sends its warm greetings to the Rt. Rev. Hays Rockwell and Linda Rockwell and to the Rt. Rev. William Jones and Maggie Jones, wishing them a long and happy retirement.

The Presiding Bishop – The Most Rev. Katharine Jefferts Schori

Whereas the Most Rev. Katharine Jefferts Schori is celebrating 20 years of ordination this year,
Whereas she has been elected to serve as Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church in 2006,
Whereas her term as Presiding Bishop concludes at the General Convention next summer and she has chosen not to stand for re-election,
Be it resolved that this 175th Convention of the Diocese of Missouri thanks her for her faithful service as Presiding Bishop of our Church.

Parish Anniversaries

Whereas in 2014, St. Mark's Church, St. Louis is celebrating 75 years since its foundation in 1939,
Whereas Church of the Ascension, Northwoods, founded in 1889, is celebrating 125 years,
Whereas Calvary Church, Louisiana, founded in 1854, is celebrating 160 years,
Whereas Christ Church Cathedral, founded in 1819, is celebrating 195 years,
Be it resolved that this Convention extends to them all its congratulations and looks forward to celebrating their ministries for decades to come.

Anniversary of Ordinations

Whereas Daniel Appleyard, J. Edwin Heathcock and Steven W. Lawler were all ordained to the priesthood in 1984 and are all celebrating 30 years,
Whereas Nathaniel Pyron, Richard Valantasis, and Paul M. Vandivort, and Llewellyn Heigham, Jr. were ordained to the priesthood in 1974 and are celebrating 40 years,
Whereas John C. Danforth, Richard H. Baker, and Calvin B. Stuart were all ordained to the priesthood in 1964 and are all celebrating 50 golden years,
Be it resolved that this 175th Convention extends to them all its congratulations and prayers for their future ministry.

Episcopal City Mission – 60 years

Whereas since 1954, Episcopal City Mission has been the only agency authorized by the Family Court systems of St. Louis to minister to juveniles in public institutions,
Whereas ECM provides chaplaincy for the ongoing spiritual needs of all youth in Saint Louis City and County Detention Centers and the Lakeside Residential Center,
Whereas through the programs they offer and their caring, listening presence, the ECM chaplains are in a very real sense the compassionate face of a loving God in the lives of these youth,
Be it resolved that this 175th Convention of the Diocese of Missouri thanks God for the 60 years of support, healing and hope Episcopal City Mission provides to more than 3,000 young people each year.

Report of the Committee on Constitutions and Canons - Chancellor Burroughs

The Chair recognized Chancellor Burroughs for the report of the Committee on Constitution and Canons. He explained the reasoning behind the submission of Resolution C-175 to the Convention. Because this is an amendment to the Constitution, it will require approval of two conventions for passage.

C-175 - Increasing size of Nominations and Election Procedures Committee -

Submitted by Ms. Betty Bowersox, Chairperson of the Committee on Nominations and Election Procedures

BE IT RESOLVED that Section 1 of Article III.6 of the Constitution of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Missouri be revised to increase the number of persons appointed to the Committee on Nominations and Election Procedures from six (6) to seven (7). The first sentence would then read as follows:

Section 1. At each annual meeting of Convention the Presiding Officer shall, with the consent of Convention, appoint a Committee on Nominations and Election Procedures, consisting of not more than seven persons, both Clergy and Laity.

Rationale

The work of the Nominations Committee, as they endeavor to find no fewer than three qualified candidates for each position to be filled, is one of the heart. Rarely are all six appointed members able to fully participate due to other obligations that come up during the critical time period of identifying and obtaining commitments and nomination forms from candidates. It is felt that having at least one more committee member will provide the balance of time, and wider representation of the diocese, to better fulfil their mission. “From the Seven Days of Genesis to the Seven Seals of Revelation, Scripture is saturated with the Number Seven” – a seven-member Committee on Nominations and Election Procedures seems appropriate.

The resolution was approved unanimously.

Increasing size of Nominations and Election Procedures committee

Submitted by Ms. Betty Bowersox, Chairperson of the Committee on Nominations and Election Procedures

BE IT RESOLVED that Section 1 of Article III.6 of the Constitution of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Missouri be revised to increase the number of persons appointed to the Committee on Nominations and Election Procedures from six (6) to seven (7). The first sentence would then read as follows:

Section 1. At each annual meeting of Convention the Presiding Officer shall, with the consent of Convention, appoint a Committee on Nominations and Election Procedures, consisting of not more than seven persons, both Clergy and Laity.

[As this is a change to the Constitution and Canons, it will need to be voted on again in 2015.]

Bishop Wayne Smith's Address to Convention

I used to think that Christianity in North America, across the board, was slowly dying. There are after all only two bodies showing any growth at all, the Assemblies of God and the Mormons. Southern Baptists are shrinking; big box churches everywhere are shrinking; the Roman Catholic Church is shrinking; and yes, the Episcopal Church is shrinking. It looks like Christianity on our continent is slowly fading away.

I have come to realize that it's not the Church, and it's not Christianity that's dying. But it's Christendom. Christendom is dying.

There are important distinctions to make here. Christendom encompasses that part of the world where Christian faith predominates, albeit often in nominal forms. It is the cultural artifact of the Emperor Constantine's having made Christianity a state religion in the Roman Empire in 313, and Theodosius having made it the only state religion in 380. Christendom flourished in our country, not as a legal reality, for our Constitution prohibits such a thing, but as a cultural one.

Christendom continued for centuries, and it worked pretty well. But its structures were so prevalent that most people did not notice that it was around. Ah, but Jews noticed. Counter-cultural believers like Mennonites and Quakers noticed. And in North America, where Christendom had been robustly Protestant in nature, Roman Catholics noticed.

The calamity that was the First World War made many more people start to notice, and then began a hundred years of Christendom's demise. But not without some last instants of its flourishing.

1952-68 was probably the last heyday of Christendom. And I do hear people speaking of those days with some wistfulness, some pining-away after those good times past. In every parish that I served as a priest, there was someone to remind me that in the fifties there were two hundred children in Sunday School. I wish that I could have had the nerve to ask, "where did all those children go?" You know and I know that those children, who are my own age cohort, essentially graduated from Church. And the vast majority of them are not among us anymore.

Christendom is dying, and it's hard for us to recognize or accept this death. The demise of Christendom means that an assurance of large numbers and wealth and influence is slowly fading away. Life then must change. So for example, the strategy for teaching the faith now looks more like a tutorial than a lecture hall, different approaches being necessary when you have seven kids rather than seventy. That's not a bad thing; in fact I think it's a good thing, since it leaves us freer to make disciples, to emphasize character and faith, rather than making content the primary aspect.

So prepare to hear some statistics, but just a couple of them. In 2012-2013, the sum total membership in the Diocese of Missouri dropped by 378, and average Sunday attendance fell by 122. This is exactly what you would expect in a post-Christendom Church like ours, and in which the median age tilts much older than the population around us. Statistically we have seen tiny losses like these, continuing over many years, beginning in the late sixties. Most of our losses are demographic; which is to say, most of our losses are deaths.

But if Christendom is over, the Church is not. And are you ready for some good news in this picture? The truth is that though we are smaller in number and influence, Churches and people in this Diocese are leaving a bigger footprint in their communities, perhaps bigger now than ever before. The engagement in mission is real, and it never ceases to startle me.

Ascension Church in Northwoods, North Saint Louis County, is a little Church with not much wealth at all. With few resources except their own lives, the people of this parish have taken on the work of tutoring students living in the neighborhood. Because they looked around and saw children and adolescents who needed more than they were getting in school. They also have a brilliant food ministry in a part of metro Saint Louis where there are a lot of hungry people. With Deb Goldfeder's presence when the food pantry is open, they offer health screening to people who otherwise would have none. Small things leveraging something much larger, which is how the likes of mustard seeds work, that seed that Jesus so admired.

St. Stephen's, Ferguson, has been diligently building connections to the neighborhoods around it for years. Who could have known the payoff those relationships would have after August 9?

I point to these two small parishes because what they leverage, in the name of Christ Jesus and for his sake, comes not from a place of money and power, which is the way of Christendom, but from their own lives and their faith. Off the top of my head I could point toward twenty other places, so engaged in mission.

I mentioned St. Stephen's, and I simply must say more about Ferguson.

I realize that there is fatigue among some Episcopalians when it comes to the issues that Ferguson raises, and that among others there is impatience and great hurt. I know that we are not of one mind. There is no quick fix to what ails us, and Ferguson is going to be with us a long, long time.

I need to say to you that I am thinking about what might happen this weekend—but I am also thinking about what needs to happen six months from now. The issues have been long in the making and they will be long in the unravelling.

I know that we are not of one mind. As far as I can tell, whenever two or three Episcopalians gather together, there will be five opinions among them. I want you to know that I am completely at ease with that reality. As a bishop, though, I have a particular responsibility in light of the racism revealed in the tragic circumstances of Ferguson. When I became a bishop, one of the solemn vows that I took was to “defend those who have no helper.” I said that I would do it, for the sake of Christ Jesus. These are the exact words from the ordination rite. And I tell you that I am going to fulfill that vow. It is my bounden duty to defend those who have no helper. That is the direction I am heading, and I hope that you will see fit to come along with me.

In this era of Christendom's demise, there continue to be three signs of the Church's life. Signs that people in the surrounding culture might find compelling. These are gifts inherent to the Church's life and I think that we need to give them starker contrast, practice them more clearly, and undertake the exercises necessary to strengthen them in our life together.

I have labelled these three signs: Community, Prayer, Beyond. These are over-lapping realities, and the body of Christ is present in all of them. In the community, which is the Body of Christ. In the sacrament of the Eucharist, which is the body of Christ, and Christ's blood. In the hungry, the thirsty, the stranger, the ill, the naked, and those in prison, where we will find the body of Christ.

These three realities answer yearnings common in the world around us. People yearn for genuine community but will not settle for a club or pseudo-community. People in fact do seek God, and a deeper knowledge of God, but will not settle for clichéd prayers or worship that just goes through the paces. And people want honest venues for making a difference in the world but may become bored by holier-than-thou types, and impatient with do-gooder-ism.

This third area, Beyond (as in beyond the walls of the Church), may be the linchpin for us. I'm talking about servant ministry, for the sake of the servant Christ, out in the world. It is no small thing that we are ordaining six of our own to the diaconate in a few minutes, because their purpose and their very existence serve to draw the attention of us all to the servant ministry that belongs to everyone who is baptized.

Deacons cannot be so diminished in their life and purpose that they are the token servants for the community. That may be a clericalized sort of notion left over from Christendom, and it is not sufficient. They are instead to be servant leaders, showing us where Christ resides among the poor and the marginalized, and inviting us to go there with them. They serve as leaders to show us the presence of Christ beyond the walls, just as priests serve as leaders in showing the ways Christ is present in the Body, the community, and in the Prayers, at the table, and whenever two or three are gathered in Christ's name.

During this convention, I hope to speak at greater length about Community. We will see how the unfolding events around us allow that presentation, or not. Shug Goodlow has planned to speak about Prayer, both devotional and liturgical, and Mike Angell, a priest who lives in St. Louis but serves in a church-wide ministry, hopes to talk about Beyond.

I love this venue of gathering for worship in the same configuration that we will use in the rest of Convention. There has to be continuity between what happens in worship and what happens in the rest of our life. It's about authenticity, which is a post-Christendom value. It also well describes Jesus Christ, who is the one true human, in whose life, teaching, miracles, death, and resurrection, we know the one true God.

Diocesan Council Report

During the past year, the Diocesan Council continued to fulfill its mission. Highlights from the year include the following:

- Improvements were made in the management of various trusts. The Council completed the consolidation of investment management of various diocesan trusts under one manager. We expect to see improved financial performance of the trusts in future years.

- The Council provided careful oversight of 2014 income and expenditures, and prepared a balanced proposed 2015 operating budget. The Council monitored current year income and expenditures, and in the latter half of the year prepared the proposed coming year operating budget with input from parishes, ministry partners, the Bishop, Diocesan staff, and the Convocations. It is noteworthy that once again, a “clean” audit report was issued for the external audit of the diocese’s 2012 and 2013 financial statements.

- Danielle Dowd became the Diocesan Youth Missioner effective January 1, 2014. The youth missioner position had been included in the Diocese’s 2014 budget and youth ministry was a topic of extensive interest at last year’s convention, so the Council is excited that a talented person with a clear passion for youth ministry was recruited for the position. Elle will report on her first year at this convention.

- The Council monitored with delight and gratitude the ministry of Deaconess Anne House interns during its first year. A second class of 7 interns has been recruited and they are in residence for 2014-15.

- The Council monitored the situation in Ferguson. The Council heard reports of the church’s activities in Ferguson. With assistance from the diocesan office, grants totaling $40k were secured from church-wide sources for hunger relief and business repair in Ferguson.

- The challenges and opportunities facing the Task Force for the Hungry were reviewed with the Council. A Deacon from the class to be ordained at this Convention will be appointed to the Task Force and each convocation was asked to appoint a person with a passion for hunger ministry to the Task Force.

- Together with the Standing Committee the Council began to explore possible prison ministries. Background information has been reviewed and a workgroup was named to pursue the matter further.

- Grants were made to parishes in support of infrastructure improvements and new ventures. Church Assistance grants were made to 13 parishes and Making All Things New grants were made to 3 parishes in the Diocese.

- A subcommittee was formed to explore the minimum clergy compensation issue discussed at last year’s convention. The subcommittee’s work is underway and due to the complexity of the work at hand, this work will take additional time. At this Convention the Council will put forth a Minimum Clergy Compensation Resolution identical to last year’s Resolution except for a cost-of-living adjustment to cash salary and housing allowance with the plan of reporting a preliminary proposal to next year’s convention.

- Reporting on business from 2013, a member of the Council explored solutions to Reduce Barriers to Participation in Church Leadership and Governance (Resolution D173). She polled various Diocesan committees and concluded that there seems to be no one answer and no easy solutions recommending that perhaps each group needs to customize its schedule and work-time based on the needs of members.

Additional details on the above highlights, all official acts of the Council, and all other activities and accomplishments of the Council are available at <http://www.diocesemo.org/diocesan-council>.

Arts&Faith STL

In April of 2014, Bishop Wayne Smith appointed Ms. Eliza Lynn and the Rev. Pamela Dolan to serve as representatives of the Diocese of Missouri to Arts&Faith STL. The organization began as an outgrowth of 9/11 Interfaith Commemoration in Music Concert in 2011, and has grown considerably since then, with many arts organizations and faith community partners.

On May 15, Eliza and Pamela attended the inaugural meeting of the Community Programming Initiative, "an effort to encourage arts organizations of all disciplines to develop programming inspired by or in collaboration with faith partners to promote inter-faith dialogue and respect."

Leaders from several denominations and many faith traditions were present, as well as arts organizations from all around St. Louis, groups as diverse as Opera Theatre St. Louis, COCA (the Center of Creative Arts), the Museum of Contemporary Religious Art, and Mustard Seed Theatre.

In June, Pamela attended an event cosponsored by Arts&Faith STL and Shakespeare Festival St. Louis, a panel discussion entitled "Forgiveness in Shakespeare." Her write-up of this occasion can be found on her blog at www.stltoday.com. She has also been in discussion with the new Program Manager for the Community Programming Initiative. Anyone interested in the mission of Arts&Faith STL ("to build a more harmonious St. Louis" through a "considered collaboration between the arts and the faith community") should feel free to be in touch with Eliza or Pamela. There is also ample information on their website (www.artsfaithstl.org), as well as on Facebook (Arts & Faith St. Louis) and Twitter (@ArtsFaithSTL).

Art can reach us in ways that more prosaic forms of communication will never do. They present a powerful opportunity to bridge divides and open up dialogue on the most urgent topics of our day. Please look for more ways to connect our parishes, our Diocese, and our missions with the arts communities in our region, and consider becoming partners with Arts&Faith STL.

Camp Phoenix

Camp Phoenix 2014 was, in its entirety, a great success! 75 young people (ages 8 to 15) enjoyed seven days and six nights of outdoor adventure and fellowship at the annual summer camp of the Episcopal Diocese of Missouri.

This year's theme was "What's Your Story?", created and facilitated by Spiritual Directors, Michaelene Miller (DAH Intern '13-'14), Jillian Smith (DAH Intern '13-'14) and Leslie Scoopmire. Over 25 adult volunteers from all over the Diocese were also instrumental in creating this fun and safe program for the campers – which they may never forget!

In addition to enjoying the daily camp lifestyle and activities of making new friends, riding horses, swimming in DuBois Center's lake, eating camp food, and singing songs, there is always a spiritual component to camp. The Spiritual Directors guided them through five different aspects of "story" and how they are used in parables. They focused on the questions of how God is revealed through parables used by Jesus and how all of our own life stories reveal God's mystery.

The Leadership Team is so grateful to so many people that helped to make camp happen and all those who prayed for the best weather EVER! Thank you to the adult volunteers who went overboard to make this a phenomenal camp experience. Thank you to the Diocesan parishes (including Church of the Advent for hosting Registration again) and other Daniels Campership Fund donors for your contributions so that they could be with us at Camp Phoenix 2014. Camp Families: we are so grateful that you aid in making camp part of your child's life - see you next year! Thank you, Bishop Wayne Smith and the Diocesan Office staff members for your unconditional support and patience. Bishop Smith, we loved celebrating Eucharist with you.

And, of course, thanks be to God!

Commission on Dismantling Racism

The Commission on Dismantling Racism is charged by the National Church and the Diocese of Missouri to promote racial justice in the Episcopal Church. The Commission expects to realize this result by working toward the above stated vision and mission statements. To fulfill this charge, the Commission has divided its work into four major goals areas:

Goal 1: Increase the presence of the Commission in Diocesan and Congregational activities.

Goal 2: Train, educate, and update all members of the Commission on some aspect of racism.

Goal 3: Educate and inform so to empower others to dismantle racism in the Diocese.

Goal 4: Increase the active membership of the Commission on Dismantling Racism.

During calendar year, the Commission provided the required fourteen hour training for all ordained and leadership persons in the diocese. This training was held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Sikeston, Missouri with the Reverend Suzanne Wolfenbarger as the primary convener. The training was held on Friday and Saturday, August 15 and 16, 2014.

The Diocesan Commission on Dismantling Racism works to achieve the National Church position on Resolutions:

A143 Title: Slavery and Racial Reconciliation and Resolution and A144 Title: Endorse Restorative Justice. In an effort to accomplish this position, The Commission continued the implementation of Seeking Our Past: Creating Our Future in the Diocese of Missouri.

This is a continuing program designed to assist congregations with developing awareness and recognition of their role in shaping the communities where we all reside.

The Annual Absalom Jones Celebration was held in February and a church visitation and training program was held at St. Barnabas Episcopal Church in Florissant at the invitation of the Reverend Renee Fenner.

The Commission sponsored two of our youth, Molly Mills and Leanna Baudendistel both from The Episcopal Church of the Holy Communion in University City to attend the National Conference for Community and Justice Anytown Youth annual training for high school students at Missouri University in St. Louis.

Peace,

Chester Hines, Jr., Chairperson,

Commission on Ministry

The Commission on Ministry, as outlined in National Church canons, is charged with assisting the Bishop “in determining present and future needs for ministry in the diocese”, “in enlisting and selecting persons for Holy Orders”, and making recommendations to the Bishop. The charge to the Commission includes guiding and examining postulants and candidates, assisting with ministry enrichment for deacons and priests, and helping to explore and implement ways in which the diocese may live out its baptismal ministries.

The Commission on Ministry has faithfully and prayerfully met over the past year inviting the Bishop to give guidance and input on the process put before us. We again used a shortened and more focused schedule for the Annual Discernment Retreat to help inform aspirants and guide them in the process of questioning themselves and their roles in the church. With recommendations from participants COM anticipates a new approach to the discernment retreat.

The 174th Convention passed the resolution regarding the number of members for COM, the length of terms and the terms allowed to be served. We have implemented this resolution and the composition of the membership of COM is divided equally between lay and ordained with rotation maintaining this relationship.

With the continuing changes in the way we obtain information, we have been able to have the web page for the Commission on Ministry updated with the help of the Diocesan Communications Coordinator.

There is an ongoing task force composed of members from COM, DBEC (Board of Examining Chaplains) and ESM (Episcopal School for Ministry) working to improve communication between each group and make the ‘process’ a more smooth one for aspirants. The attempt is to make discernment a more accessible process for all members of the diocese, not just those who may look to ordination.

The Commission also continued the ongoing work of parish Discernment Committee trainings and postulant and candidate interviews, enjoying its work as a respectful and cohesive team.

In 2013 - 2014, the COM recommended two postulants for the priesthood and one candidate for the diaconate. The Rev. Eric Lobsinger was ordained to the Priesthood this year. The COM has recommended six diaconal candidates for ordination and with God’s blessing that will occur at this convention.

Respectfully Submitted,
The Rev. Pat Glenn
Chair, Commission on Ministry

Community of Hope Report

The Community of Hope trains and supports laypersons for pastoral ministry within and beyond their congregations. Chaplains are taught to be present, in a compassionate manner to an individual or group for the purpose of nurturing spiritual needs.

After commissioning, COH chaplains select a venue in which to make visits. Currently visits are made to nursing homes, prisons, and medical and hospice settings; and to settings serving the homeless, abused, or those in detention. Over the past year there were 26 active members who made 2-25 hours of visits per month, to 11-24 persons.

Chaplains commit to a rule of life based on the Rule of St. Benedict, which includes daily reading, prayer, weekly worship, monthly meetings, and retreats. Chaplains are nurtured in a community that meets monthly-a Circle of Care, which includes debriefing, shared meal, prayer, and fellowship.

There are two accredited and operating COH Centers -Church of St. Michael and St. George and Grace Church in Kirkwood, which has two Circles of Care.

On the Diocesan level, members meet quarterly for continuing education. Recent meetings were:

- 1) March 2013- Reflections on the Rule of Benedict
- 2) July 2013- We are God’s Work of Art
- 3) October 2013- Magdalene House
- 4) January 2014- Visio Divina
- 5) June 2014- Needs of the Foreign Born in St. Louis

Annually there is a COH International meeting at Camp Allen, attended by at least one chaplain from the Diocese who reports back to us.

Yearly trainings are sponsored by one of the COH Centers. The curriculum consists of 14 weekly sessions prescribed by Community of Hope International.

Prospective applicants are approved before they commence training. Grace Circle of Care recently hosted a training group; 17 persons from six churches were commissioned in April 2013.

Church of St. Michael and St. George Circle of Care is hosting a group; 14 trainees will be commissioned in December 2014.

Companion Diocese Committee

The Companion Diocese Committee started the year with a retreat at Riverwoods in Washington, Missouri. The group shared stories on traveling to South Sudan and experiences while in Lui. The first trip to Lui was in 2003 and we became a companion diocese in 2006 with a signing of a covenant agreement. Before ending the retreat we brainstormed how to best respond to questions on the escalation of violence which erupted on December 15, 2013 with another civil war in South Sudan.

Presiding Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori called for a Day of Prayer for South Sudan on February 16. The Companion Diocese Committee and other churches within the diocese joined groups throughout the Anglican Communion praying for peace and reconciliation in South Sudan. A Litany of Prayer was used at an evening worship service held at Advent Episcopal Church in Crestwood. We prayed for our companion Diocese Lui and the Episcopal Church of South Sudan and Sudan (ECSSS).

On May 18, 2014 we joined other faith based churches who came together praying for peace and reconciliation in war torn South Sudan.

As the chair of the Companion Diocese Committee, I have the opportunity to join in a bi-weekly conference call sharing information on South Sudan. This group includes the American Friends of the Episcopal Church of the Sudan (AFRECS), Global Partnerships (The Episcopal Church) and other interest groups who partner with Episcopal Church in South Sudan (ECSSS). The main focus of the conference call is to share information on companion dioceses, peace and reconciliation efforts, the work of Episcopal Church in Sudan and South Sudan and information sharing.

Once I've received the minutes from the conference call I forward the information to other committee members, interested people and to our partners in the Church of Sweden in Lund and Blackmore Vale Deanery in United Kingdom.

In the last couple of months we have received frequent emails from Bishop Stephen and Lillian Dokolo. Communication has been difficult due internet problems and they are currently looking for another provider within South Sudan.

From the support of the diocese money was sent to the Mothers' Union from the sale of baskets and financial support was given to Luinjini Girls Academy Primary School in Lui after receiving a request from Bishop Steven Dokolo.

Due to the continued unrest in South Sudan the Diocese of Missouri and partners from the Church of Sweden in Lund and Blackmore Vale Deanery in United Kingdom will not be traveling to South Sudan. Unfortunately the risks are too high for safe travel.

We are hoping to continue mission trips in the future.

When the information changes we will joyfully share the information within the diocese. For more information about the Companion Diocese Committee please go to luinetwork.diocesemo.org or contact me at my email address: evelyn.smith4148@gmail.com.

Praying for peace and a universal ceasefire,
Faithfully,
Evelyn Smith, Chair
Companion Diocese Committee

Daughters of the King

The Order of the Daughters of the King® (DOK) is a spiritual sisterhood of women dedicated to a life of Prayer, Service and Evangelism. We have made a commitment to Jesus as our Savior, and we follow Him as Lord of our lives.

We are an Order for women who are communicants of the Episcopal Church, churches in communion with it, or churches in the Historic Episcopate.

Today our membership includes women in the Anglican, Episcopal, Lutheran (ELCA) and Roman Catholic church. An Order is a community under a religious rule; especially one requiring members to take solemn vows. We don't just enroll as members and attend meetings; we take life-long vows to follow the Rule of Prayer and Rule of Service.

A Rule is a prescribed guide for conduct or action by laws or regulations prescribed by the founder of a religious order for observance by its members.

The Order of the Daughters of the King® was founded in 1885 by Margaret J. Franklin at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in New York City. Members of the Order undertake a Rule of Life, incorporating the Rule of Prayer and Service. By reaffirmation of the promises made at Baptism and Confirmation, a Daughter pledges herself to a life-long program of prayer, service and evangelism, dedicated to the spread of Christ's Kingdom and the strengthening of the spiritual life of her parish.

Daughters of the King chapters, and Junior Daughters of the King Chapters exist in the United States and in Countries all of the Anglican Community.

Currently, there are over 3,000 members outside of the U.S. Chapters. They are in Brazil, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ghana, Haiti, Honduras, India, Israel, Kenya, Malawi, Nigeria, Puerto Rico, South Africa, and Trinidad & Tobago. The Missouri Diocese has 40 members in 4 chapters and several Members-at-Large. Current Diocesan officers are Kathy Alexander, President and Beth Felice, Vice-President. Our last Diocesan meeting was in June at Transfiguration in Lake St Louis.

Respectfully submitted,

Kathy Alexander, President
Diocese of Missouri Daughters of the King

Episcopal Campus Ministry Rockwell House

Episcopal Campus Ministry at the Rockwell House is in great shape. The ministry has grown steadily over the last four years, the students have become really good friends, and the community has great depth. It's a special place in the Diocese of Missouri, and we are thankful for the convention's support.

This year we continued to strengthen our core membership by focusing on leadership development. Our student leaders set the mission focus and they are integral in the many tasks that keep us running.

At the center of this ministry is our weekly gathering at the table. Our shared Eucharist and meal is the heart that gives life to our community. The liturgy is traditional yet relaxed and approachable to all comers. While most of our members are Episcopalians from traditional churches from around the country, we pride ourselves on making Rockwell an approachable place for all. We have found the perfect balance that honors both the personality of the Rockwell House and our rich Episcopal tradition.

Our retreats, mission trips, reading days, service-days, gatherings, and regular meetings are filled with joy and laughter, which is essential in order to maintain sanity in the midst the stressful academic environment. If you are looking to have a good laugh (even at convention), you can always hang out with us.

Episcopal City Mission

Overview Episcopal City Mission (ECM) through the dedicated work of its three chaplains delivers its mission of "chaplaincy providing support, hope, and healing to children in detention" in the St. Louis metropolitan area: St. Louis City Detention, St. Louis County Detention, and Lakeside Residential Treatment Center. In addition, two of our chaplains have spent some time at Missouri Hills, a Division of Youth Services (DYS) residential facility.

In 2014, ECM has been celebrating its 60th Anniversary of providing chaplains to children in detention. This year we have been able to "spread the word" of our work through some very successful fundraising events and many chaplain visits to parishes providing sermons and participating in adult forums.

2014 Events ECM continues to explore ways to increase ECM's presence in the community and its ability to grow and serve more children in detention.

There are hundreds of children committed to Missouri DYS facilities that ECM could serve. Providing chaplains to the children in these additional facilities fits within our mission, but it would require us to expand the budget and increase chaplain hours.

The hours that ECM has been at Missouri Hills in 2014 has provided us with encouragement that we might be able to work with DYS management for approval to do more work at their facilities. This will be a primary objective for ECM in 2015. We will be looking to our supporters and funders to assist us in this endeavor. However, ECM chaplains continued to deliver the mission through existing programs, such as:

- Weekly nondenominational chapel services
- Monthly birthday parties, sponsored and attended by local Episcopal church members
- Private conversations with a chaplain
- Grief and loss groups which help the youth explore the causes of their anger and behavior

We sincerely thank you for your continued support of Episcopal City Mission and the children we serve.

Episcopal School for Ministry

Making Disciples of Jesus for the Ministry of the Church

At this Convention, Bishop Smith will ordain six graduates of the Episcopal School for Ministry to the diaconate of the Diocese of Missouri: Rebecca Barger, Nancy Belcher, Jerre Birdsong, Deb Goldfeder, Chester Hines, and Kevin McGrane. Five of the six completed their studies entirely through ESM, while one (Deb Goldfeder) earned an MDiv from Eden Theological Seminary and then completed the third year of ESM as an Anglican Studies program. The School is proud of these graduates and the role they will take in the life of our Diocese.

This fall, ESM launched the Program for Congregational Vitality (once called the School for Congregational Development). This is our first attempt at offering our programs at remote sites. The Program for Congregational Vitality has enrolled eight participants attending a site at Grace Church, Jefferson City, four attending at Trinity Church Hannibal, three at Holy Cross, Poplar Bluff and two attending at Eden Seminary. The School owes a huge debt of gratitude to

Convention Reports

Beth Felice, communications officer of the diocese for her enthusiasm and tireless work to make this remote offering a reality.

In May of 2014, ESM offered the “Holy Dying: a faithful approach to end of life issues” a second time, this time at Calvary Church, Columbia. The conference was well attended and well received.

In September of 2014, the Board of ESM presented “Living the Liturgical Year” as the Making Disciples Conference. Suzanne Guthrie was the keynote speaker. Good Shepherd, Town and Country provided the hospitality and webcast the conference to remote sites in Jefferson City and Poplar Bluff.

The Theological Formation program of ESM continues to meet one weekend a month at the campus of Eden Theological Seminary in Webster Groves. Faculty for 2014 are the Rev. Barbara Willock (Old Testament and Preaching), Dr. Ron Crown (New Testament), Dr. Donna Hawk-Reinhard (Spirituality), the Rev. Dr. Peter Van Horne (Church History I & II), the Rev. Dr. Dan Handschy (Theology 1, Sacramental Theology and Liturgics).

Various guest faculty offer topical sessions on the Friday evenings when the school is in session.

The School graduated four students in September of 2014: Larry Edgar, Harry Goff, Diana Howarth and Beth Simpson. Congratulations to these graduates.

The dean and two board members, Barbi Click and the Rev. Harry Leip, have joined with representatives of the Commission on Ministry and the Diocesan Board of Examining Chaplains on a task force called by the bishop to review the discernment process in the Diocese of Missouri. The task force is presenting the first piece of its work to this Convention of the Diocese, and plans to finish its work by June of 2015.

Having graduated two large classes the last two years, enrollment is currently down, partly due to a perception of the purpose of the school being primarily the training of persons for the diaconate.

At Convention next year, a number of graduates of the school will be ordained to the diaconate, and there are not many aspirants or postulants for that order in the process. The dean and the board are beginning to explore broadening the purpose of the school (and the perception of that purpose in the diocese) into the training of persons for identified lay ministries, and deepening a sense of mutuality in the overall ministry of the church beyond just the ordered ministries.

Beginning in the Spring term of 2015, ESM will begin offering courses in Anglican Studies through Eden Theological Seminary. The diocese has one student enrolled at Eden in the process toward ordination to the priesthood.

The School is grateful for the bishop’s and the diocese’s continued support for quality theological education in the Diocese of Missouri.

Respectfully submitted,
Dan Handschy, Dean
Episcopal School for Ministry

Office of the Canon to the Ordinary

The Rev. Canon Dan Smith, the office of the Canon to the Ordinary continues to supervise the Business, Legal, Property, and Congregational matters that make up the day to day work of a portion of the Bishop’s staff. Ms. Desiree Viliocco continues to lead the daily work with the financial affairs of the Diocese.

She is ably assisted by Ms. Rita Benson. Ms. Robin Weisenborn continues as Canon Smith’s administrative assistant.

Besides her role as Canon Smith’s administrative assistant, Ms. Weisenborn’s responsibilities also include supporting the work of the Commission on Ministry. Specifically she works with those in the ordination process and supports the bishop in his work with those in the ordination process. This year that portion of her work was increased as evidenced by the six ordinations at this convention. Ms. Weisenborn continues to work closely with those congregations that are in transition. Ms. Weisenborn also administers the online training for the Safeguarding God’s People series of trainings.

Financial: Ms. Viliocco’s work with the financial concerns of the Diocese continues to be exemplary. You will see in the convention journal for last year and this year the auditors continue to praise the work of Ms. Viliocco and her assistant Ms. Benson. Both give a great deal of time to the insurance concerns of both our active and retired clergy.

They continue to give significant support in regard to our companion relationship with the Diocese of Lui, Episcopal Church of Sudan and South Sudan.

Ms. Viliocco continues to give primary support to the treasurer of the Diocese and to the Diocesan Investment Trust.

Please know that our financial staff is always ready to help with questions regarding insurance as well as helping with advice on the financial concerns of the congregations in the Diocese.

Canon Smith continues to have primary responsibility for the Business and Legal affairs of the Diocese. The chancellor, Mr. Hal Burroughs, continues to provide much needed counsel in this area. This year, unfortunately, there was also an investigation under Title IV of a clergy person. These are always sensitive matters and the work of the chancellor is greatly appreciated.

Congregations in Transition are a priority in this office. In 2014 we completed a search for a new rector for Christ Church, Cape Girardeau and welcome the Rev. Edie Bird into the life of that congregation and the Diocese. An additional search at Trinity, St. Louis will reach a conclusion after this report is turned in, but before convention. Holy Communion, University City is well underway and working with initial interviews of potential candidates. There are two congregations entering into transition with the resignation of the Rev. Jason Samuel (to accept a call to the Diocese of San Diego) from the Church of the Transfiguration and with the announced, but not effective retirement of the Rev. Bill Luley at St. Luke's, Manchester. Both are currently working towards calling an interim rector.

Canon Smith continues to attend regular conferences with Transition Ministers allowing him to increase his skills as well as the valuable networking that occurs at those conferences. In addition this year with the approval of the Bishop and at the request of the Bishop of Nebraska, Canon Smith has undertaken a consultation for a search at a church in Omaha, Nebraska.

Canon Smith continues to work as closely as possible with the Companion Diocese Committee and with our brothers and sisters in the Diocese of Lui. No trips were undertaken this year as a result of the unrest and violence that has occurred in South Sudan. We hope to make a trip to Lui sometime in 2015.

Canon Smith continues to provide the primary staff support to the Standing Committee and to the Diocesan Council/ COEDMO, assisted by Ms. Weisenborn and Ms. Tracy Grigsby.

Office of Communications

The bishop's communications staff is comprised of Beth Felice, director, 3/5 of Tracy Grigsby's full time schedule and Archivist Sue Rehkopf, whose report follows. Ms. Grigsby is receptionist and communications assistant in addition to her duties as liaison to the Diocesan Council. She is often the first voice you hear when you call our offices and the first person you'll meet when you visit.

Previous positions in the hospitality industry and transportation logistics have informed her deep concern for helping members of this diocese find the help they need from our staff.

With the new diocesan website launched last late Fall 2013, some time in the new year was devoted ironing out bugs, and training those who were interested in maintaining their pages.

In late January, we worked with the Diocese of Salisbury's Sudan Link and the Diocese of Wau, South Sudan, to get an online Lenten study program working. There were rich conversations between Missourians, Brits, and members of the Wau clergy.

In February, we tackled a major revision of the diocesan smart phone app. This new version was made available in iTunes and on Google's Play store for Android. It features twenty sections of news, resources, directories, blogs, and social media streams. We built several custom tools to present news from our parishes, podcasts of sermons, etc. The app debuted in March. As more of you come online with rich offerings, let's make sure we include you. A new version of the compositing software is about to be released, so expect this to continue evolving. diocesemo.org/app.

Print costs continue to rise, and we are always looking for a more cost effective solution for a regular print piece. In March we were able to secure an attractive bid from Cox Media in Ohio for our small print run. We changed the format for Seek, now printed on high-brite newsprint. We have 2-3 times the space for content. The previous cost of printing alone now pays for printing, mailing individual copies, and envelopes of Seek to parishes. In June we relaunched the quarterly which features at least a baker's dozen of reflections and thought pieces by familiar and under-published voices in the diocese.

Also in March, we began planning a social media initiative: tweeting on a diocesan account with shared authority. @OurEpiscopalMO offers a platform each week for a member of the diocese to tweet about their life as a follower of Jesus in the Episcopal Church. We seem to have been the first judicatory or church to do this in the U.S. We've received some acclaim for the project, but more importantly we're growing a connected community, and, as a result the reach of diocesan social media has grown exponentially. On a typical weekday, we have from 1/5 to 1/7 the traffic and reach of accounts from The Episcopal Church. Pretty cool for a merry band of 12,500 Missouri Episcopalians.

We supported several mixed channel social media connections this year, including a virtual tag-along at Camp Phoenix. Two Episcopalian lay women, one in CT and Laura Catalano, member of St. Timothy's Church created a grassroots campaign to celebrate a "social media Sunday" where we were invited to share our worship with the world via text, images, sound, and videos online. We built the behind-the-scenes tools to capture that 24-hour period, and the tools to measure the over 15 million impressions that day that took “Episcopal” into a worldwide trending term.

We’ve been listening carefully to the yearning of diocesan members to amplify their face-to-face connections virtually. Several dioceses have begun to experiment with connecting parishes to one another, establishing a web-enabled “hub.” Costs for these endeavors are all over the charts. We wondered how we might be able to test it out for this diocese.

We found an intrepid partner in the Dean of the Episcopal School for Ministry, Dan Handschy, who was willing to allow the newly relaunched Program for Congregational Vitality to be a testing lab. With money saved by the lower Seek cost, we were able to offer three parishes equipment and training to participate via Adobe Connect. The first night was an abject failure, but fortunately each session has been better as we learn what works, what works well, and what doesn’t work at all. A great many thanks should be sent to all those helping blaze this trail for the diocese, including clergy and lay members from Grace Church, Jefferson City; St. Alban’s Church, Fulton; Calvary Church, Louisiana; Trinity Church, Hannibal; St. John’s Church, Eolia; and Holy Cross Church, Poplar Bluff. The three centers are at Holy Cross, Trinity, and Grace. By spring of 2014 we should have a clear idea of process and best practices to share. In our budget line we’ve requested funds to cover an additional three parishes.

And, if numbers help illuminate the need for getting this tech up and working, there are two students attending the PCV from the St. Louis metro area, and 15 from the satellite locations.

On the first Saturday in October we held the fourth annual communications conference. This year’s focus was on writing. For the first 8 months of the year a small group of diocesan communicators met monthly. There is not much energy around these meetings unless brainstorming a new joint endeavor such as @OurEpiscopalMO or Social Media Sunday. Scale is important for this group to flourish, and keeping in a denominational silo won’t help. We have stopped our monthly meetings and are working on building an ecumenical group in 2015.

Early in 2013, we began to build a closed social network for the diocese called the table project. It has promise, but limitations. Eighteen months ago the creators began a redevelopment that is about to be launched. As we’ve been with them since their early days, we’re grandfathered in to the newer version with no additional cost. We saw the beta version and it finally makes sense on mobile. So many facets of this product are now going to be intuitive for the user community. We’re glad we stuck it out and looking forward to a new push in a month. Winter will see the upgrade of the mobile app and the table project.

In the background, the weekly diocesan email news continues.

This office acts as a media liaison helping connect the church and secular media to main actors in stories and features you see in print and on the airwaves.

We’ve also consulted on a wide range of communications projects with parishes, diocesan organizations, and individuals this year. If you have any questions large or small, you are always invited to contact us.

Office of the Archivist

The 6th floor of Bishop Tuttle Memorial is home for the Archives of the Diocese, the repository for all the official and historical records of the Diocese.

Our collection includes a library of more than 2,000 volumes and our extensive document and photograph collections.

The Archives of Christ Church Cathedral also have space on the 6th floor reserved for their collections. Much of the work in the Archives is organizational: sorting, organizing, filing, documenting, knowing what to keep and what can be disposed of. And in the process, replacing worn file folders and boxes with new safe acid-free materials.

And though this sounds rather routine, this work is exacting and will insure that the collection will be available for generations to come.

In June, I attended the Annual Conference of the National Episcopal Historians and Archivists in Salt Lake City. This year’s theme was “The Quiet Strength of the Episcopal Church: Our Forgotten Women.” In addition to tours of churches and the LDS library in the Salt Lake area, presentations included stories of the deaconesses who have served the Church, orders of nuns who ran our schools and hospitals, women who wrote several of the hymns included in our Hymnal, and women who went to the frontiers as the Church moved west. Kurt Cook, archivist for St. Mark’s Cathedral in Salt Lake City, and I had the opportunity to showcase our on-going research on the Foote Sisters – Bishop Tuttle’s wife Harriet Foote Tuttle and her two sisters Mary Foote Miller and Sarah Foote White – all who served both in the west and in Missouri. The Conference wrapped up with a lightening round...a moment for each participant to honor and remember a forgotten woman from their own diocese or parish.

Attendance at the annual National Episcopal Historians and Archivists Conferences and at Tri-History Conferences is not limited to those working in the church history field, but is open to anyone interested in history. They are well worth the experience. If you would like more information on any of the Church's historical organizations, please let me know. I hope to have more Missouri representatives at future conferences.

If your vestry has concerns about record retention or if your congregation is interested in establishing archives or in improving your existing archives, I'm happy to provide assistance. And if your congregation is working on writing your congregation's history, remember that the resources in the Diocesan Archives are available for you. Cathedral archivist Paul Anderson and I are always happy to welcome visitors interested in the history of the Church in Missouri, and our archives offer a wealth of research opportunities.

Office of the Youth Missioner

It is an exciting time to be a part of youth ministry. God is doing beautiful things through the youth in our diocese.

Building Relationships Because relationships are the foundation of any ministry, the Bishop advised me to spend a good portion of my time and energy this year getting to know the youth, youth leaders, parents, clergy, and parishes around the diocese. This took many different forms. Sometimes I visited parishes on Sunday, just to be present. Other times, I would preach, facilitate a discussion, or teach a workshop centered on youth ministry. I spent time in one on one, small group, and large group discussions with clergy members, youth leaders, parents, and youth so that I could get to know them in order to serve them better.

Listening, Amplifying, Advocating A lot of the conversations that I was a part of centered around a fear and uncertainty surrounding the future of the Church, and the challenges of youth ministry. While all voices in this conversation are important, I gave special primacy to the thoughts, feelings, and opinions of our youth and young members. I then tried to amplify the voices of our youth and advocate for their position within the Church of the present and the future. I often acted as a liaison between older members and youth members, helping to do the work of translation to build understanding across generations.

After seeing the need to amplify the voices of our young leaders, the Offices of the Bishop appointed youth to the Diocesan Youth Advisory Council (DYAC), a council made up of youth leaders to advise the Youth Missioner on issues concerning youth in the diocese. DYAC members had a lot to say, and immediately did the work of writing a formal statement, which I encourage everyone to read.

Consulting and Advising I tried to make myself available to all parties for trouble-shooting and consultation work. This sometimes took the form of very practical advice such as recommending resources. Other times, I acted as a sounding board for brainstorming ideas.

Coordinating Events. Events are helpful tools in building relationships. Diocesan level events are intended to supplement the ministries already taking place at the parish and inter-parish level.

Some diocesan youth events in 2014 included:

- Youth Lock-In
- Absalom Jones Commemoration Event
- Episcopal City Mission Summer Celebration
- Volunteering
- Episcopal Youth Event 2014
- Camp Phoenix
- Anytown Youth Leadership Institute
- Back to School Local Mission Trip at the
- Deaconess Anne House
- DYAC meetings
- Convention

Looking forward to another year of diocesan youth ministry.

Blessings,
Danielle Dowd
Diocesan Youth Missioner

Diocesan Youth Advisory Committee

The Diocesan Youth Advisory Committee (or DYAC) is a committee made up of Jr. High and High School youth from around the diocese. This year's committee includes 9 members from 7 parishes.

The primary role of Diocesan Youth Advisory Committee is to advise the diocese and particularly, the Youth Missioner, about issues related to and concerning youth and youth ministry in the Diocese of Missouri and the wider Church.

At our first meeting this year, we spent time as a group dreaming and visioning about what a youth-friendly church would look like. The question of, "What do youth want in a church?" is often asked, but in many cases, it is asked and answered by adults to other adults.

We hope that by making this statement, we can invite you to continue having this conversation with the youth and young members in your parishes.

When asked to rank values and attributes in a ministry setting, as a group we overwhelmingly place "inclusivity" as a top priority. We value ministry settings that openly welcome people from all walks of life. In our discussions of what we envision for the church moving forward, this same value was re-emphasized over and over. Words like "non-judgmental", "open", "comfortable", "a place to belong", "safe," and "welcoming” kept coming up. It is particularly important to us that we actively extend welcome to groups that may have not felt welcome by the Church in the past, such as women in leadership positions, LGBT individuals, low income people, and youth and children.

Other attributes we value include ministry settings that:

- Emphasize community, where people are well known by one another and support one another

- Prioritize service where people love and care for one another, particularly for people outside of the church building

- Are willing to change and be open to new ideas, where we can be grounded in the traditions where we find so much beauty, but can actively chase after the new ways that God is moving in our ministries

We are proud to be part of parishes that DO emphasize many of the values that we find important. We have a lot of ideas on how we as a Church can go even further in leaning into these values. We ask that the Church include us as full partners in the visioning and decision-making process.

Sincerely,

Audrey Schuman

St. Luke's Hospital

St. Luke's Hospital is a nonprofit regional health-care provider committed to improving the quality of life for patients and the community. As an Episcopal-Presbyterian hospital in name and practice, St. Luke's partners in ministry with the Episcopal and Presbyterian USA churches in the greater St. Louis area.

Beyond delivering inpatient and outpatient care, St. Luke's has an active community outreach program that offers thousands of educational and preventive health opportunities. This year, St. Luke's also provided over $12 million in unreimbursed services in the form of charity and Medicaid discounts to uninsured and underinsured patients.

In addition, St. Luke's Pediatric Care Center provides primary and preventive care to medically underserved and underinsured children in North St. Louis City and County.

Expanding the Healthcare Mission

Another way St. Luke's lives out its heritage and mission is through the Episcopal-Presbyterian Health Trust. St. Luke's is using a recent $75,000 grant from the trust to help support a community health assessment. In 2014, St. Luke's embarked on an 18-month process to identify and assess the community health needs of the West St. Louis County population through input from area health experts, community leaders and survey sources. With this information, St. Luke's developed an implementation plan with ways to enhance education and partner with community organizations to improve quality of life in our community, specifically in the areas of obesity and sedentary lifestyle, cancer screenings and support services, and management of chronic conditions. St. Luke's has committed funding for community education, low cost lung cancer screenings, free classes for people at risk for diabetes and heart disease, local life style events, among other things as spelled out in our Community Health Needs Assessment.

Providing a Ministry of Presence

St. Luke's Pastoral Care Department offers an important ministry of presence as part of the interdisciplinary healthcare team, providing holistic care for patients and their families, visitors, physicians and employees of all faiths. Chaplains are a companioning presence at St. Luke's Hospital, Surrey Place (St. Luke's skilled nursing facility) and the Rehabilitation Hospital, providing various services and resources. A chaplain also serves as a member of the interdisciplinary care team for St. Luke's Hospice Services.

St. Luke's has a long tradition of providing Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) for persons of diverse faith traditions through its CPE Learning Center. Accredited by ACPE, Inc., St. Luke's CPE Learning Center offers a 1 to 2-year Residency Program, a 2 to 3-year Supervisory Education Program, an 11-week Summer Program, and a 16-week Extended Program.

Task Force for the Hungry

The Task Force for the Hungry has been revitalized in 2014 with a solid group of members that meet quarterly. We continue to direct funding to 6 hunger ministries within the diocese, and the amount of $ we have been able to provide is slightly above this point in 2013 due to continued generous donations.

We are encouraging other hunger ministries within the diocese to apply for funding in 2015 and adjusting percentages given to existing ministries based on changing needs within our communities.

We have a table here at the convention, and encourage you to stop by to hear more about the Task Force's plans for 2015.

Respectfully submitted,
Brian Roche, Chair of the Task Force

About Sewanee

The University of the South is home to an outstanding liberal arts college, a School of Letters, and a seminary of The Episcopal Church. Located atop the Cumberland Plateau between Nashville and Chattanooga, Tenn., Sewanee's 13,000-acre campus, the second largest campus in the United States, provides vast opportunities for research, recreation, and reflection.

Within the traditionally strong curriculum of humanities, sciences, and graduate theological studies, Sewanee faculty members promote intellectual growth, critical thinking, and hands-on research.

The University's Board of Trustees is composed of the bishops of the 28 owning dioceses, together with clerical and lay representatives elected by each diocese and representatives of other University constituencies. The Board of Regents, to which the Board of Trustees delegates some of its responsibilities for governance, is composed of Episcopal bishops, priests, and lay people, and may include a limited number of members of other Christian bodies. The chancellor of the University, elected by the Board of Trustees, is a bishop from one of the 28 owning dioceses.

An Episcopal Center of Learning According to its mission statement, Sewanee "is an institution of The Episcopal Church dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge, understanding, and wisdom in close community and in full freedom of inquiry, and enlightened by Christian faith in the Anglican tradition, welcoming individuals from all backgrounds, to the end that students be prepared to search for truth, seek justice, preserve liberty under law, and serve God and humanity."

The University of the South, founded by church leaders from the southeastern United States in 1857, is the only university in the nation that is owned and governed by dioceses of The Episcopal Church, specifically the 28 dioceses that are successors to the original founding dioceses. The historic ownership and governance of the University by these Episcopal dioceses has produced a living synergy of leadership, resource, and mutual support, enriching the Church and advancing the university's role in American higher education.
