SPECIAL CONVENTION

March 26, 1966

Church of St. Michael and St. George
Clayton

March 26, 1966

A Special Convention of the Diocese of Missouri was held in the auditorium of the Church of St. Michael and St. George, Clayton, on Saturday, March 26, 1966, at 1:40 P.M.

The Clergy and Lay Delegates were called to order by the President, the Rt. Rev. George L. Cadigan, who opened the meeting with prayer.

The Secretary announced that of the 82 clergy entitled to seats and votes 58 were present.

The Secretary then announced that 130 Lay Delegates representing 48 of the Parishes and Missions entitled to representation in the Convention were present.

A quorum being present in both Orders the Bishop announced that the Convention was duly convened for the consideration of the business for which he had called it to meet: to receive the report of the Council concerning a restructure of the Diocese and to consider Amendments to the Constitution which would make this restructure possible.

The Bishop introduced the Rev. Howard F. Park III, vicar of St. Martin's Church, a Mission in St. Louis County formed since the 126th Convention. The Rev. Mr. Park then introduced the Lay Delegate from St. Martin's, Mr. William Fialka.

The Bishop then asked the Rev. W. Murray Kenney, President of the Standing Committee and Vice Chairman of the Council of the Diocese, to present the report of the Council.

The Rev. Mr. Kenney said that the report of the Committee appointed to study the structure of the Diocese and to propose necessary legislation had presented its report to the Council twice and to the Clergy Conference over two days; and furthermore had publicized the proposal widely. He also said that the Delegates to this special Convention had considered informally the proposal on this day for two hours.

The Rev. Mr. Kenney then moved the adoption of Resolution No. 1: RESOLVED that this Convention approve on first reading the following Amendments to the Constitution of the Diocese:

New Section as follows:

Of Implementation of Amendments

Section 1. The scheduling and implementation of amendments to this Constitution including the extent to which provisions relating to nominating procedure and election of persons and their terms of office shall become effective at the Cathedral Chapter and Deputies to General Convention, as well as amendments adopted by the Standing Committee and ratified by the Annual Convention at which the Amendments were adopted."

The Resolution was seconded by Mr. H. W. Neuwoehner, Jr., and several others. No discussion ensued.

The question being called for the motion was put and the resolution adopted unanimously.

Upon motion by the Rev. Dr. Laird, duly seconded, the members of the Committee on Structure were given a rising vote of appreciation.

The Secretary explained the proposed method of procedure in nomination and elections at the 127th Convention, April 22-23: Nominations for members of the Cathedral Chapter and Deputies to General Convention will be received as previously announced by the Secretary of Convention, as well as nominations for the Council and members of Departments even though these organizations may be abolished under the proposed new Structure. Nominations or suggested names for nominations for the Standing Committee may be made to a committee to be appointed by the Bishop for that purpose under the new Article XIIa. This Committee will prepare nominations for the four Clerical and four Lay members of the Standing Committee, and will oversee the election procedure if the 127th Convention adopts the proposed Article XXIV and a schedule of ratification to be prepared by the present Standing Committee.

The Bishop then appointed the following persons to act as the Nominating Committee under this method of procedure:

Lawrence J. Dorn, chairman
Mrs. Robert A. Black
The Rev. W. Murray Kenney
George T. Guernsey, III
Dr. R. MacFarlane Tilley
Dr. Carl Rexroad
Alonzo P. Kersy, Jr.

The Secretary proposed Resolution No. 2:

RESOLVED that the greetings of this Special Convention be conveyed to the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger who will observe the 15th anniversary of his consecration on April 5.

There being no further business the Convention adjourned sine die at 2 P.M. following benediction by the Bishop.

The Rev. Mr. Swift said that these proposed changes had been prepared jointly by the Committee on Structure and the Committee on Constitutions and Canons and are intended to implement the new structure of Diocesan administration. He moved the adoption of Resolution no. 4:

RESOLVED that the above-named changes in the Canons of the Diocese be adopted.

Following a second the Resolution was adopted.

Speaking for the Standing Committee the Rev. Mr. Kenney then introduced Resolution no. 5 and moved its adoption:

RESOLVED that acting under new Article XXIV of the Constitution this Convention shall elect to the Standing Committee of the Diocese four Priests and four Lay Communicants, who with two Priests and two Lay Communicants whose terms of office expire in 1967 shall constitute the Standing Committee for the coming year; and be it further

Following a second the Resolution was adopted.

The Bishop then appointed the following to serve in this Convention as the Committee on Nominations and Election Procedure: Mr. Lawrence J. Dorn, chairman, The Rev. W. Murray Kenney, Mrs. Robert A. Black, Dr. Carl Rexroad, Dr. R. Macfarlane Tilley and Mr. Alonzo P. Kersey, Jr.

Mr. Dorn said the Committee proposed to count the ballots by a method known as the Hare Single Transferable Ballot, a system used in Long Island since 1926 and in Massachusetts since 1939, and in other dioceses. He moved the approval of this proposal. Following a second the proposal was approved.

Mr. Dorn and Mr. Guernsey explained this method.

The members of the Convention proceeded to mark their ballots and to cast them for the two offices to be filled in this manner.

Mr. Dorn said that the Secretary of the Convention had received only two names in nomination for membership on the Cathedral Chapter, The Rev. Charles Kronmueller and Mr. Rodney A. Weiss, and moved their election by acclamation. Following a second the motion prevailed and the men declared elected.

Upon motion of the Secretary, duly seconded, all reports of organizations, departments, committees and the Council received by the Secretary prior to publication date were ordered to be printed in the Journal.

Mr. Davidson, speaking for the Committee on Resolutions, said the Committee had received four such and expected to present them to the Convention later.

If you will visit this town of Mark Twain lore you may find a fence to paint, a dead cat for a souvenir, stump water to cure your warts, and we assure you that you will not be scalped by Injun Joe. After the Convention adjourns on Saturday, we can arrange for guided tours for you to see the historic and scenic sights of our area. With weather permitting, we can also cruise the mighty Mississippi. Since Hannibal is known as a drowsy river town, may we suggest that you spend the entire weekend with us in drowsiness and relaxation. In fact, I have a rector's permission to invite your bishop to remain with us through Sunday, so please stay over and enjoy and elevate yourself by hearing another of his challenging sermons. Sir, it is my pleasure to move that the Diocese of Missouri convene in Hannibal in 1967 at a date to be arranged by the proper offices.

Following a second, the motion was put and passed unanimously.

Mr. Jack Martin, chairman of the Diocesan Commission on Mutual Responsibility and Interdependence in the Body of Christ, presented an oral report.

The Bishop appointed the following persons to constitute the Committee on Nominations and Election Procedure to serve to the adjournment of the Convention in 1967: Mr. Lawrence J. Dorn, chairman, a representative of Episcopal Churchwomen, the Rev. William H. Laird, Mr. Robert C. Hyde, Mr. John W. Smith and Mr. William Jenks.

Upon nomination of the Bishop the following were elected to serve as Diocesan Trustees of the University of the South: The Rev. Harry E. Maurer, Mr. William C. Honey and Mr. Edward Johnston.

Mr. Davidson presented the report of the Committee on Resolutions Committee. He said the committee had received four such and recommended their adoption. Following a second for each, each was adopted by voice vote.

Appendix No. 1

The Bishop's Address

Here at the outset, there are a few things to be said and reported to the Diocese as a whole. It is a matter of no little concern to myself, and I believe, yourselves that in 1965 many parishes and missions failed to meet their apportionment, for a total of about $35,000. In a budget as modest as Missouri's, this is a serious problem. This deficit has been made up by a use of reserve funds and other resources, but there will be no such monies available for 1966 or any future year. I am asking clergy and wardens to assume more leadership in the areas of Every Member Canvass and Finance. It would be altogether appropriate for each diocesan unit to remit monthly one-twelfth of the apportionment and assessment.

Tomorrow morning, the 1967 budget will be presented for your approval. It has been difficult to put this budget together, principally because we are in a period of transition. This budget is slightly higher because of the increased asking of the Executive Council and for the anticipated salary of an additional staff member. The latter should pay for himself. Missouri has never failed in its payments to the National Church and, as far as I can help it, never will. It should be noted that in 1967 we are expected to give to the Executive Council for work at home and abroad the sum of $102,765.00. It should be noted that in 1966 the Executive Council will give to Missouri the sum of $44,200.00 for our work as a Pilot Diocese. It should be noted that in the diocesan program the budget for 1967 is about $154,000.00 which is a reduction from the previous year, and that, of this amount, $91,860.00 is for salary assistance of clergy in the missions of the Diocese. (1) The balance of the program budget goes essentially into diocesan institutions. It may thus be seen that there is little more than $2,000 available for that which is technically program. (2) In late November of this year, I will expect each parish and mission to indicate to the Administrator's office whether or not they will overpay, meet in full or underpay, the apportionment. The 1967 budget, beginning on 1 January, will be based on this reckoning.

(3) Beginning next month and under the leadership of Mr. William Van Nice, Convocational meetings will be held to consider stewardship. I urge that each mission and parish be represented at these gatherings. Our present situation and our past performance does not warrant that these meetings be defaulted. I assure you that, almost directly, the so-called Virginia or Laird Plan will be studied and presented to the whole Diocese for implementation at an appropriate time.

There have been many changes in clergy personnel this year and it would not be fair to speak to each of them. However, I am frank to say that it would be strengthening to the Diocese if there were less movement. In some instances, change is right and necessary, but too much movement does not contribute to reform and re-newal.

Two years ago, the Reverend Maver Feehan was awarded the first Traveling Fellowship. In 1965, but to be used this year, the Fellowship was awarded to the Reverend William Laird. He departs next week for Italy and a study of the Waldensian Church. For the year 1966, and to be used at his convenience, the Fellowship, with the unanimous consent of the Standing Committee, has been awarded, I am happy to announce, to the Reverend Joseph W. Nicholson.

At this time, I want to say heartfelt thanks from the whole Diocese for the ministry of the Reverend George McCowan. George has served faithfully for nine years as the only vicar, and now first rector, of the Church of the Advent. Now a series of physical disabilities makes it necessary for George to retire completely from an active ministry. It is our fervent hope that at a near time his health will be sufficiently recovered that he may again exercise his splendid ministry.

The body of this Address must inevitably be a report on the achievements or lack of achievement of the goals proposed in the 1965 Convention Sermon.

(1) RE-ORGANIZATION OF THE DIOCESE

The Committee has produced, the Council has recommended, and, by Special Convention and this Convention, you have approved a new structure for the Diocese. That your acceptance came so readily was not the result of political chicanery or Tammany tactics, but rather because the Committee spent at least six hundred hours in hard work. This same Committee was careful to listen and to instruct laity and clergy in the reasonableness of change. Great gratitude to all the Committee, and particularly the Chairman, the Chancellor, Mr. William Bascom, and the professional staff, Mr. Rodney Weiss. One of the happy experiences in working with this Committee was to see it move ahead so clearly and practically without foundering in theoretical discussion.

Your willingness to accept structural change is interpreted by your Bishop as confidence in himself, (I speak humbly), and a definite mandate to make our mission in Missouri more flexible, more responsive and more efficient. The task is clearly to begin the operation, and to so organize the work that neither persons nor accomplishments of the past are lost in transition, and that new advances may be undertaken at once. The Venerable Charles F. Rehkopf will serve as administrator, the Reverend Anthony J. Morley will fill the post of planner, Mrs. Horace Barks will serve as communications officer, and Mr. Ingram F. Boyd, Jr. will be our fiscal agent. The position for Program and Operations has not yet been filled, but will be occupied for the time being by the Rev. W. Murray Kenney.

Equally significant is the additional responsibilities given to the new and enlarged Standing Committee. The importance of this group as Convention's independent agency of advice and review cannot be overestimated.

As exciting and refreshing as the new structure is, your Bishop cannot be so naive as to believe it is the solution to all problems. The Cabinet will have to discover itself as a team. The Standing Committee will have to discover its identity and purpose. Bishop, Cabinet and Standing Committee have yet to wrestle with several important organizational issues and questions. But, in a remarkably short time, a healthy beginning has been made and all of this augers well for the future.

(2) UNITED ST. LOUIS STRATEGY WITH THE DIOCESE OF SPRINGFIELD

In this area of concern, there has also been a good commencement. The Metro-St. Louis Conference, meeting in Belleville last November, was a concrete and cooperative step. As we attempted in that Conference to look at the metropolitan whole, we learned how difficult this is and how ill prepared we are for metropolitan responsibility either as secular or ecclesiastical citizens. In both realms, we are yet too parochial.

You are aware that there has been formed a Bi-Diocesan Planning Committee and that this Committee is directly responsible to the Bishops of Springfield and Missouri. Presently this Committee is blue-printing our own actual priorities, the concerns of other denominations and the secular St. Louis milieu in which our own ministry is set. Once again, the challenge is for us to match structures of the faith community to critical structures of secular need.

I am aware that there is some anxiety relative to the varying traditions of both Dioceses and the possibility of extra financial responsibility to Missouri. While it is impossible to foretell the future, I do believe that these anxieties are not necessary. The important thing is that two dioceses are beginning to act like the Church and that in this we are committing ourselves to plan and work together. Neither Bishop Chambers nor myself wants merely a show of friendliness, important as such is, nor a hasty plunging into quick new projects. What has begun is a long-range unification of efforts and resources.

(3) TRAINING FOR MODERN MISSION

It is a matter of regret that there is too little to report of program in this area. But there are stirrings: The Ecumenical Center for Renewal is being thought through by a group closely and healthfully associated with Eden Seminary; the embryonic "Committee of 100" is looking for ways to tell the Church about the World and the World about the Church; and the Experimental Campus Ministry, which is providing reflection and action for parochial clergy, University faculties and administrators, and students, graduate as well as undergraduate.

We have achieved almost nothing in regard to a regular and required in-service training for clergy and professional lay staff. Some of the clergy have attended the Urban Training Center, the College of Preachers and the Institute of Advanced Pastoral Studies in Michigan, but no overall plan has yet been devised. We are perhaps yet wrestling only half-heartedly about the meaning and role of the non-stipendiary clergy. Except for what happens at parish levels—and there are some excellent examples of this—and the devoted work of laymen like Forrest Crane—there has been no advance for theological assistance to laymen. With too little assistance from myself, or other diocesan help, the Commission on Mutual Responsibility, under Mr. Jack Martin, has done a good work.

The symptom of our uncertainty is that the Pilot Diocese Committee has spent hours discussing Training for Modern Mission, and has not as yet produced a statement of goals or an agreement on the shape of a program. It would be less than honest not to say that we have a long, long way to go in this significant and vital area.

(4) EXPERIMENTATION AND REVIEW

Our commitment as a Pilot Diocese is to a continual process of discovering ways for the re-natal of the Church, so that the Church may be of use in the re-natal of the world. Perhaps that process is re-natal. To be truly experimental is new for the Episcopal Church and we are still in the learning stage. However, one mark of our seriousness about it is the now approved staff position for Research and Planning, which has the oversight of experimental programs. Since last autumn, we have had the half-time services of the Reverend David Schulz to help especially with the evaluation of experiments. Mr. Schultz has the rare qualifications of both priest and sociologist. He has completed an analysis of the Belleville Conference; he has helped design questionnaires for Christ Church Cathedral, as it grapples with its ministry to the city; and he is currently evaluating the Educational Assistance Project.

The Educational Assistance Projects have become almost the chief vehicle of ministry to at least two of the inner city parishes. This program is phasing from the experimental to the regular program status. Mr. John Forry is the head of the important committee which has these educational projects as its responsibility. The 1967 budget has allocated $5,000 for this work and the committee is authorized to seek additional funds to complete a budget of $20,000. Pilot grants from the Executive Council helped us in starting this project. We have discovered its importance and it is our responsibility to continue and expand it.

The Experimental Campus Ministry, now eighteen months old, has been a highly creative exploration of the academic milieu in metropolitan St. Louis by the Reverend Richard Tombaugh and his Methodist colleague, the Reverend Robert Epps. These clergy have devised a test pattern for an ecumenical ministry to higher education which will be tried out beginning with the next academic terms. I anticipate that the findings from this exploration and experiment may lead us into new patterns of ministry to metropolitan institutions of higher learning.

Near Northside Team Ministry: The work with the experimental, ecumenical team ministry will be curtailed, with the resignation of the Reverend Robert Mayo, our member of the team. As a Diocese, we are now involved in an effort to strengthen that ministry by incorporating the findings of the experimental team into a new working structure. A strong, independent board hopefully will emerge to guide the work there in the future. Specialists in areas of concern will be hired by the board to carry on the work and it is hoped that support for the board and the team will come from the St. Louis community as a whole.

As a Pilot Diocese, we are seeking reform and re-novel, hopefully under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. We pray that tongues of fire and rushing mighty winds will serve to awaken us in Missouri and throughout the Church, that we may become alive to the opportunities of these times. Difficult as they are, who in reality would want to live apart from them. Much of our effort this year has concerned itself of necessity with the office of the Bishop. As the office has come under close scrutiny, there have been occasions that have been for me squirming ones, during which I have longed to retreat to the womb of a less harassed and traditional ministry. Sometimes in fantasy, I imagine myself the theme of a contemporary and nightmarish painting, where I am pulled in all directions, by the Urban Church, by the Suburban Church, by Town and Country Churches, by the hard right and by the hard left, by the gap between clergy and laity, by the demands of community, by the pull of the inner life and by the need to love and be loved. It is obvious that the work of a Bishop today is conditioned by the realities both of the Church and of the culture within which he must inevitably live. The development, therefore, of a viable diocesan strategy related to the larger Church, to the Churches of the Diocese, and to the problems and opportunities of the area, is an imperative task. In the changes made and yet to be made, we are aware that form follows function.

*The relation of a Bishop to a jurisdiction should be seen in the context of a more flexible use of the episcopate. Translation of bishops was approved by the 1964 General Convention and will come before the 1967 Convention for a second reading. This is a step that should be most useful in the life of the Church. Further, the possibility that a Bishop, after a due period of service in the episcopate, might accept a call to parochial ministry, or to other responsibilities, either within or without the structures of the Church, should be seen as a useful and good Christian ministry.

To gain time for matters of priority, bishops in contemporary American life must learn to make creative use of organization. Routine matters of administration can be delegated or simply abandoned as of doubtful usefulness. The pressures of a bishop at every board, committee and department meeting, can undermine clergy morale and initiative and overwhelm lay participation at the same time that it burdens the bishop. To a rather remarkable degree, the radical change which you have adapted for diocesan structure is seeking to eliminate some of these problems. While management is a responsibility which modern bishops cannot avoid, good procedures must be learned and implemented. Administration (telephone, correspondence, meetings, etc., etc., etc.) can be seen as a pastoral opportunity to "minister to" many people, clergy and laity, some of whose lives are touched by a bishop only within these patterns of organizational life.

In all of these matters, whether structure is new or old, the life of a bishop is bound to the clergy of the diocese and their lives to his. As a bishop is the chief pastor to clergy, so the clergy have a pastoral responsibility to the bishop. The inescapable and sometimes impossible dilemma of a bishop in so many affairs is that he is both king and prime minister, judge and pastor. Under God's grace, this can be resolved if both clergy and bishop recognize that "Father in God" represents not sentimentality but strong love. Discipline can then be seen as an aspect of a pastoral and paternal relationship. Understanding, forgiveness and charity make possible that relationship between Bishop, clergy and laity, and it is the foundation for reform and re-newal. Without love, structural changes, experimentation, dialogue and projects are nothing worth.

Department of Mission and Strategy

AVE ATQUE VALE MISSION & STRATEGY (Requiescat in Pace)

In the good old days of long balloting or dull reporting, "just for kicks" (like I read "Playboy" in a parishioner's home) a few sympathetic buddies would read my report. With streamlining, automation and preferential voting, now nobody may read this epitaph. But inasmuch as it is a valedictory, I shall mourn but little.

When His Grace, George of Missouri, asked me 5 years ago to be his chief lieutenant for then Missions & Strategy, I responded "No! if your goal is to convert Eastern Missouri to Anglicanism." It was a flippant but sure bet, for in my neighborhood if you ever see or meet an Anglican you yell "Bingo!" "No!" said his Grace waxing ecclesiastical, "that would be a 'vain and fond hope'—but are we not called to be responsible stewards of what we have and who we are in Eastern Missouri? Doesn't Anglicanism have a peculiar place?" Now the Bishop seemed to be talking sense, so I accepted. In the half-decade we've made few conversions but lots of noises. We've been ploughed under and buried by the new structure without the freedom and dignity of voting ourselves into oblivion—but as Christopher Wren said, "Si monumentum requiris, circumspecte"; or as Representative Tom Curtis says, "Look at the facts."

Yes, we've contaminated the Diocese. Take reconstruction of the front office. Read our minutes and the whole blessed mess began with us several years ago (I once attended 39 diocesan meetings in 62 days and served on 19 committees, etc.). Take Pruitt-Igo or proposals of ecumenical togetherness in the North or South County—we've thrashed about with these projects. Take local or area responsibility for ministry. We advocated more power for Convocations (we even forced the East to meet an unheard-of and embarrassing directive). We've tried to get vicars, rectors and wardens to plan the finances and strategy of an area. Take training for modern mission. We dropped the s from "missions" several years ago. Through "Mission To and For Missouri" we made an abortive attempt towards renewal and mission. The original goal was a fresh approach to evangelism through small group and personal encounter. Ecumenical Day at The General Convention in 1964 was a project that erupted out of the M&S Committee. Acceptance of "The Call to Unity & Mission in Missouri (cooperation in shared ministries with other denominations), sponsored by the Missouri Council of Churches, was spear-headed by our department.

Last year we likened ourselves to those little beach birds that scurry and scrounge about for food, narrowly missing the crash of each wave. Possibly our ferretings and goadings have precipitated the Diocese into reform and made it receptive to the excitement and experimentation of Pilot Diocese. (They say if a pig roots around long enough, he'll come up with a cob of corn). Inspired by our Bishop, we've always been searching and testing. Perhaps the road blocks we've met have accelerated re-modeling the Bishop's office. For instance, we tried to establish channels of communication from Parish or Mission to Convention to Department to Bishop. Unfortunately, (a) people doubted our power to make decisions; (b) much of our budget is concerned with clergy salaries and their fringe benefits and thus must be handled by the Bishop pastorally and personally. Secondly, we've tried to set up priorities. It wasn't easy. We had few if any standards for evaluation of work. (Only recently is the church using scientific methods for research and review.) Hence we had difficulty refusing anything from anybody as we tried to trust those making the request and we had little or no basis for denial (save that we had no $$). In many cases the petitioners knew this and their real request was for a "hunting license." Often this is the only way but it confuses central budgeting and planning, and the outsider begins to wonder. What is St. Twitchet's real income? or doesn't that institution get money from other sources also? Recognizing that some leaders think bigger than others, and with the unlimited needs of some parishes and projects, there is no solution to this problem. Like diabetes, it can be controlled and lived with but not cured.

Since Pilot Diocese has come alive, it is apparent that many of their goals and jobs overlap ours. Until recently, Pilot Diocese was mainly concerned with metro St. Louis. Now, and correctly, all the Diocese is becoming involved. This makes for more redundancy.

So it's best that we died quickly and peacefully — euthanasia is our case is a good thing. I do wish to pay tribute to the "faithful", especially those from the hinterland who have worked hard and come long distances. Some of us have spent many, many hours on special areas such as North & South County proposals, St. Stephen's, Valley Park, Pruitt-Igoe, Ascension, etc. With the help of the Archdeacon, we made studies of what it had cost in men and money and time to establish the newest missions and parish.

Much this seemed like Good Friday; — frustration and wheel-spinning. Yet maybe we've helped the Diocese move a bit and thus have a foretaste of Easter. However, leave us not get nostalgic and try to conjure up Medals of Honor for our past. Now is the time! The day is at hand; or as "Zorba the Greek" says, "Grab the ring of life — get with it"; or as our Lord asked the man at the pool who'd failed to make it in 38 years, "Do you want to get well? If so — get off your pad and walk!"

It's been Holy Fun!

Vice-Chairman of Mission and Strategy

Department of Christian Stewardship

Bishop Cadigan has said, "There is a continuing need for a deeper understanding of the meaning of stewardship in its biblical context — God has given each of us time, talents and treasure. He expects us to be good stewards of ALL these gifts throughout the entire year —".

This in 1965 was the central theme of the department's work. It attempted to show that we should be "continually thankful for the gifts God has given us through the tithing of our time, talents and treasure."

More parishes and missions organized and conducted Every Member Canvasses in 1965 than in any previous year. A number of parishes and missions conducted a year-round stewardship program realizing that stewardship of time, talents and treasure can not be properly taught in a one time hurry up visit conducted in the late fall or early winter when the principal purpose of the visit is to obtain a monetary pledge for the coming year.

The results of the program of giving "continual thanksgiving through tithing" and teaching year-round stewardship were evident in many parishes and missions. Many reports telling of favorable results, such as, "We have more people involved in active work in our parish than ever before". "Our pledges for next year are up over $7,500 over this year". "We had a 17% increase in our number of pledges". "Our Every Member Canvass Committee is going to make at least four visits to every member of our parish this year", etc.

During the later part of 1965 the department reviewed its program and outlined plans for 1966 which it hopes will give all parishes and missions further help in their stewardship program.

The Bishop's Ecumenical Officer, 1965-1966

On Good Friday, 1965, Bishop Cadigan appointed me his Ecumenical Officer — without pay or, as I call it, "a poor man's Joe Baker" — the Ordinary did promise me expenses of which I have used little. However my humble beginnings were not for long, for on May 25, along with Msgr. E. O'Meara, I blessed the airplane of the United Missionary Air Training & Transport to be used inter-denominationally for the sick and missionary work in East Africa. A few days later in Rome, Pope Paul blessed also, but only the flag, whereas I had blessed the plane plus flag at Lambert airport. Early in the game, with advice from New York, I decided not to build up a big structure. We've operated out of a hat, trusting you "locals" to form ad hoc committees to execute grass roots operations. I have felt, as did the Lund Conference in 1952, that unless the ecumenical movement hits the local congregation and neighborhood it will never get down to earth (and to confuse the metaphor) — it will never get off the ground. I did pledge we'd make some overtures to Missouri Synod Lutheran and Southern Baptists and Orthodox, but as yet nothing much has been done.

First, the big picture! We were highly involved in the Octave of Unity in the metropolitan area. The series opened at Christ Church Cathedral and closed at the New Cathedral on Lindell, with our Bishop making history both by his presence and through his sermon in which he called for a "Committee of 100" living "on the edge of the church and/or world". During the Octave, local neighborhoods such as St. Louis Hills and Webster Groves made their own noises tying in with overall do. Also some out-state places (for instance, Poplar Bluff) reported celebrations of this international event. Your ecumenical officer served on the Metropolitan Committee; preached at one of the area services and spoke at Cardinal Glennon College; along with the Rev. Roy Ostenson, acted as the Bishop's chaplain at the closing service in the St. Louis Cathedral. Secondly, this coming Sunday, April 24, and on other occasions this spring, we shall participate in pulpit exchanges, seminars, panels, etc., with the 6 other churches of C.O.C.U. or "Consultation On Church Union." To expedite this, I have written to all the clergy and sent them propaganda. We also must applaud Dr. R. Tombaugh's work with the experimental campus ministry. Although reporting has been sporadic, I have picked up bits and pieces from here and there: Fr. Peat, R.C., spoke at St. Matthew's, Warson Woods, on Good Friday; in Webster Groves, Mr. Willand and Emmanuel are highly engaged in all sorts of things. With Eden Seminary and Webster College nearby, there is much ecumenical thought and action.

Mr. McCowan and his people of Advent, Crestwood, have also been engaged in ecumenical doings. Mr. Baker and some collegians made a retreat at a Roman Catholic monastery that was mutually of great benefit. Likewise, Mr. Baker has been a leader with students in ecumenical work in Canton, Missouri. Currently 18 laymen and 4 clergymen are engaged in a lecture-dialogue home meeting series sponsored by the Committee on Ecumenism of the Archdiocese of St. Louis, meeting twice monthly.

At St. Mark's, Sister Anne Patrick Ware, a theological professor and Roman Catholic nun, preached in the context of Sunday worship; an ecumenical "hymnary" with the Roman Catholics and the U.C.C.'s was held; and our 8th Annual Ecumenical Institute. During Lent we invited clergy from several denominations, including the Rev. Miss Mary McClure, the first ordained woman, to speak from our pulpit.

As to personal chores and requests, these fall into several categories: 1) Lectures, addresses, sermons; 2) writings; 3) committee work. First, like many of the clergy, and I'm sure some laity, I was asked to address, preach, or deliver sermons to the following groups: the South Side U.C.C. clergy on "New Forms of the Ministry"; over 100 R.C. seminarians and teachers at St. Louis University on "Ecumenism and the Episcopal Church" ($40 honorarium for that one!); annual convention of Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Men on "Holy Words—a Barrier to Communication"; Grace Methodist Men's Club, panel with Drs. Wagner and McDowell on the Blake-Pike Proposal; Pilgrim Congregational, "New Forms of the Ministry"; panel with Lutheran and R.C. priest discussing at two sites, scenes from Osborne's "Luther" (Rev. W. C. Rainford substituted for me at one place); panelist on radio-telly; seminar in Cape Girardeau sponsored by Missouri and Illinois Councils of Churches and our Metropolitan and local Church Federation.

Secondly, in the area of writing: 1) I assisted our bishop in preparation of some of his addresses; 2) I was asked to write critiques of several ecumenical ventures in other parts of the country; 3) criticized some national television spots for the R.C. radio-television apostolate; 4) assisted several college students (mainly R.C.'s) in preparing term papers on ecumenicity; 5) wrote a description of Diocese of Missouri for "Response—Far and Near", the Anglican pamphlet.

Thirdly, in terms of committee service and action, your officer serves in the following ways: 1) The Bishop has graciously placed him a tempore in his "shadow" Cabinet; 2) member of Pilot Diocese Committee; 3) chaired annual Roman Catholic-Protestant Metropolitan Church Federation Clergy Dialogue; 4) chaired Missouri Council of Churches' Annual Assembly Committee and presided at the ecumenical session; 5) a member of Riverfront Church Centre Committee; 6) member of study committee attempting to plan joint Episcopalian-Presbyterian works in the south county Matisse area; 7) assisted in giving press releases in re ecumenical matters; 8) with Jake McCarthy, an R.C. layman, called together interested folk to serve on the "Committee of 100" of which I'm a member; 9) was substitute delegate to the National Council of Churches' meeting in St. Louis February, 1966; 10) April 27-29, along with Mr. Godfrey Hartnett of Emmanuel parish, will represent our diocese at a national conference of ecumenical officers in Chicago; 11) I continue (beginning our 4th year) as a panelist on KMOX radio's "Invitation to Understanding", heard each week from 2:15 until 3 P.M. My colleagues are Msgr. Patrick J. Mulloy, pastor of Blessed Sacrament Roman Catholic Church, Dr. Sterling Price, minister of 3rd Baptist Church and J. Roy McCarthy, our m.c. Last year KMOX won the Gabriel Award from the National Catholic Broadcasting Association for their "At Your Service" program and we received two special citations.

Only last Wednesday we received a national award in Nashville, Tennessee, from Religious Public Relations Council as the best religious radio program for 1965 and we have been nominated to the Northern Baptist Convention for their annual radio award. Along with our weekly stint, our panel makes 15-18 guest appearances at service clubs, P.T.A. groups, churches, etc. each year. Recent ones include Annual Jewish United Sisterhood luncheon at Temple Israel, St. Peter's, Ladue Churchwomen, and P.T.A. of St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic Church. In addition, once a month each panelist has a 5-minute Sunday sermonette at 6:55 A.M. over KMOX. I wish to thank the Rev. Claudius (Pete) Miller rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, for substituting on the panel for me on several occasions.

Looking ahead: although the above seems much, deep down we know we're only scratching the surface. Our R.C. brethren with their Operation Renewal and ecumenical zeal, shame us — at least in numbers involved and in enthusiasm. Again, the real test is ecumenical planning both at the top and bottom — especially in local neighborhoods. We have little or no rapport with the Orthodox, Southern Baptists and perhaps the Missouri Lutheran, although dawn is breaking there. Here we need inter-denominational groups at least in 2 areas: study and action — and in these groups we need frank discussion about the things which divide us — and I don't mean the obvious ones such as the Petrine Theory, Infant vs. Believers baptism, and who's a kosher priest — but across and within denominations, such as: a) Church and world — should clergy stay in the pulpit or march in Selma? etc., etc. b) The Place and Power of the Laity — should they really have a say in doctrine and worship as well as finance? Who speaks for the church? c) The problem of authority in the church — what about the Bible — the words or "The Word"? d) Our sacraments divide us. How can we limit the Body and Blood of Jesus Christ to ourselves? Wouldn't it truly be a messianic feast (eschatological) if we all agreed about what happens when God acts and one responds in faith as he eats and drinks the bread and wine? e) And allied to the above, the place of the institution in the modern church and world dialogue. Does the institution ask only secondary questions concerning precept, principle and organization? Can it concern itself with man's primary thirst, "Who am I? Upon what basis does my life add up? What unites and makes me whole? Why do I make this or that decision?"

Addendum: When our Bishop appointed me a year ago, he said, a bit facetiously, "Now you'll do officially what you've been doing sans title all along." This is a half-truth, for each one of us can do much as a parish priest or parishioner in his own backyard — yet it's like a snowball or, as my old geology profession said about knowledge, "the greater our learning, the wider our vistas of ignorance" — the possibilities of ecumenical action are unlimited — but if you haven't done so, begin now! — "that the world may believe."

2. Inner Diocese Parish Visitation.

It is the hope of the Commission that inner Diocese Parish visitations will be developed between neighboring Parishes. The purpose of this program is to develop a better understanding and friendship within the Diocese. The Commission is requesting that Parishes develop visitation programs with rural to rural Parishes, rural to urban Parishes, urban to suburban Parishes and etc. This can be done through Vestry visitation, through the Guilds and through Clergy and Parishioner exchanges. If all Parishes participate in this program, the outcome will be a renewed adventurous Diocese, strong in manpower, program, stewardship and faith.

The Commissions first presentation of this program was made to the North Convocation at a special Convocation Meeting held on March 13, 1966. Other Convocation meetings of this nature will be called in the near future.

3. Kyoto — Missouri Friendship.

A very close friendship has now been developed with the Diocese of Kyoto, Japan. The Right Rev. Matthew Y. Mori, Bishop of Kyoto and Bishop Cadigan have been in close contact with one another for quite some time. The Commission has been working closely with the Rev. John S. Kanoh, Kyoto's correspondent for M.R.I. Through the effort of the two Bishops and the Commissions, a deep friendship is developing.

The Commission is happy to announce that Calvary Church, Columbia, has supplied the necessary monies as a grant for a scholarship to Mr. Ignatius Mamoru Aizawa, a theological student in Kyoto. Several of our Parishes have made contributions to the work of the Kyoto Diocese in the past few months.

The two Commissions are now developing a correspondence list so that more of our people may become involved in this friendship.

The Episcopal Churchwomen

The 1965 report had to do with the Triennial. Not having a Triennial this year did not leave us without something to report. The Diocese is a busy place and the women are constantly embroiled in its many facets. We don't have to seek jobs to make us appear busy. They find us. Times may change but, let's face it, the women are here to stay.

Much concern has been expressed about the fact that so far no mention has been made of any position the women might fill in the re-structure of the diocese. I believe we will be needed and I feel this will have to be recognized before the plans are fully developed and put into operation.

The Episcopal Churchwomen will continue to operate as long as there are parish women's organizations and to act as liaison officers to the General Division of Women's Work and the Executive Council.

The vice-presidents have been working on two important projects this year. The first vice-president has chaired a committee to revise the constitution and by-laws. Long and arduous meetings have been involved and the revisions were mailed early to each Parish President so that her guilds could consider them carefully before voting on them at the Annual Meeting on April 22, 1966. The first vice-president has also served as a member of the Diocesan Promotion Department.

The second vice-president has served as Chairman of the committee on arrangements for the Annual Meeting. She has also represented the Episcopal Churchwomen on the Diocesan Committee on Missions and Strategy.

Both of the secretaries are important parts of this organization. Accurate minutes and prompt sending of notices and other material are vital to our work.

All members of the board have served on two or three sub-committees and in many cases serve as chairman of one. The President of the Episcopal Churchwomen represents the E.C.W. on the Bishop's Council.

The E.C.W. budget is prepared by the Treasurer and Finance Committee, approved by the Executive Board, approved by the parishes and voted on at the Annual Meeting. The budget is financed by the Fair Share Plan, under which the guilds of the parishes and missions give 3.2 percent of their funds to the E.C.W. Last year this amounted to $6,400.00 and was used to help some of the inner-city churches, college work, scholarships at St. Luke's Hospital, United Church Women, National Cathedral Association, Girl's Friendly Society, Church Periodical Club, Supply Department, Presiding Bishop's Fund and Overseas Missions and many other activities. With M.R.I. being keywords that have captured the imagination of the men of the Church, the women feel justly proud that they have always been aware of M.R.I. through United Thank Offering and Special Gifts.

Figures are a bit boring to more people but when they represent what the women of this Diocese do above and beyond giving their time and talent, they bear witness to the fact that women are aware of their responsibilities to the Church. According to the Facts and Figures taken from the annual reports of the parishes, these same women expended approximately $20,000.00 in their own parishes, plus an additional $15,000.00 in the Community, Diocese, Nation and World. This does not include over $12,000.00 sent to the United Thank Offering. The figures for 1965-1966 are very encouraging. So far, three-fourths of the parishes have paid or partially paid their Fair Shares. Over $9,000.00 in Special Gifts have gone through the Treasurer's books so far.

It is the purpose of the Christian Education Chairman to be of help to the Christian Education Chairmen in the parishes by recommending speakers on timely subjects, books to be read and studied, film and slides to be viewed. The Metro-St. Louis Conference in Belleville crammed a full year's course in Christian Education into two days. This was a truly wonderful experience.

Just one year ago the Fellowship Conference of the Episcopal Church-women of the Diocese of Missouri was in the making. In my report at that time I told of our plans, our hopes and our aspirations. Now, one year later, the conference is an accomplished fact.

Was it worth-while? As an answer to that I would like to quote from the final talk of Mrs. John Foster, our leader and principal speaker. She compared the conference with the parable of the seed. "If the conference is good and if it falls on fertile ground, it will sprout and will grow to full maturity after it is over." Certainly the ground was fertile. Those who were present were leaders within their own parishes and they shared a common interest. As they left many expressed the hope that there would be future opportunities, such as this, for getting together.

Plans are now being made for a second conference to be held at Trout Lodge in mid-October. Final plans will be announced later.

The Church is working and praying daily for those who are in any ways afflicted in mind, body, or estate in every parish all over the world. Prayers are said and work is done not for only those of "this" parish but for all people everywhere.

Christian Social Relations reaches in many directions. The many thousands of hours spent by the women as volunteers at St. Louis hospitals such as St. Luke's, Malcolm Bliss, Barnes, State Hospital, etc., and many throughout the Diocese. The bandages rolled for cancer patients is another area to illustrate the care for those who are suffering. Hours and money spent at Grace Hill House, St. Stephens, at Ascension Nursery School, all the truck loads of clothing collected for those in need in the community, and in far-off places, illustrate our care for those in distressed estate.

Summer Conferences for the youth of the Diocese have been aided by gifts of time and money from the women. Youth Counseling Service has been assisted financially and almost all of our seminarians have received assistance and moral support. Cookies, Christmas presents wrapped, stockings and baskets filled for hospitals, Meramac Hills for Girls, many Boys Homes of the Diocese—those of other denominations as well as our own. Little things perhaps, but important to those who need to know someone still cares.

The United Thank Offering Spring ingathering amounted to $6,065.40 plus $23.46 interest. Forty six parishes participated. Forty five parishes were represented in the Fall ingathering giving an amount of $6,652.85 plus $26.66 interest. This represents a very successful ingathering, with more money and more givers than ever before.

Three hundred garments made by the Dept. of Supply were sent to the Pine Ridge Mission in Pine Ridge, South Dakota. Additional clothing was purchased and sent to the Indian catechists who are not full time employees of the Church. Small checks were sent to the Inter-Church Medical Assistance and to the Special Gift Fund which send small checks at Christmas to a limited group of clergy widows.

Through Fair Shares and Special Gifts the Christian Ministries Dept. has been able to supply financial aid to the following:

$15.00 to Miriam Sanchez, Cuban refugee for English lessons at the International Institute so that she might be able to secure employment in line with her capabilities as a musician and an educator.

$25.00 as a graduation present to Keiko Matsumoto who has received $1,100 from this department over the last three years towards her expense of training for work in the Church.

$200.00 towards a part scholarship of a student at St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing. Funds remaining in this department are promised towards a full scholarship for this student, provided she continues in her work at St. Luke's.

$300.00 to help defray expenses of the 1965 Summer Youth Conference and Choir Camp.

$50.00 to Rev. Arthur England for his work with college students in Cape Girardeau.

$50.00 was set aside for each convocation to use to help send young people to church conferences, camps or to help with summer service projects.

By virtue of office the chairman of this department serves as the representative of E.C.W. on the Board of the Girl's Friendly Society.

The Department of Christian Ministries of the Executive Council reports that because established schools and seminaries are now training women for work in the church, the program at St. Margaret's School in Berkeley, California, will be discontinued in June of 1966.

The Devotions Chairman has offered suggestions to many parishes concerning appropriate literature and prayers. A booklet of personal or favorite prayers, some of them composed by and others collected by the women of the Diocese, is being compiled. A limited version of this collection was given out to the women who attended the Fellowship Conference.

The Diocesan Altar Guild is embarking on a three fold program. To reactivate the "Loan Chest" . . . this chest consists of Altar linens, silks and other Eucharistic surplus articles, donated by parishes, which may be borrowed by new churches or missions to begin their services. To give assistance by arranging programs on the care and symbolic significance of the items used in the Church. In the future it is hoped small groups may be organized to learn to make Altar Linens for their parish or mission.

The Church Periodical Club has been very active and is doing very worthwhile work. Eight seminarian students and young ministers have been given Interpreter's Bibles and Dictionaries costing $296.20. Books and magazine subscriptions, amounting to $42.25, were sent to Robert Mayo. Two hundred dollars was sent to the National Book Fund for the creation of a Department of Philosophy Library and to add to the Modern Student's Library at Trinity College in the Philippines.

Her work would be greatly benefited if all of the parish reports were returned promptly. The Year Book is a very helpful collection of information concerning the activities of the women of the diocese.

Convocation Chairmen are a very important part of the E.C.W. It is not easy for the President to be in all places in the Diocese too frequently. Strong dependable convocation chairmen are the main liason between E.C.W. Executive Board and the out-state parishes.

The convocation meetings have been scheduled for March 2 in Cape Girardeau for the South Convocation, March 10 in St. Louis for the East Convocation, April 13 in Hannibal for the North Convocation and April 20 in Columbia for the West Convocation.

In late November the dedication of the flood lights on the cross of the Chapel at the Minimum Security Facility at Moberly, purchased with the money donated by the North Convocation from its meeting in Moberly in 1964. Members of the Diocesan Executive Board were present at the dedication.

The Episcopal Churchwomen of the Diocese of Missouri are interested in many worthy causes. We are particularly anxious to support the Family Management Association of Grace Hill House, which helps new arrivals to improve their living conditions and habits and attempt to prepare them to stand on their own feet. What better way to explain M.R.I.?

The members of the Episcopal Churchwomen Executive Board, the Chairmen of the various departments in the Parishes and all the women of our Diocese would like to express appreciation to Bishop Cadigan and all the clergy of the Diocese for their interest in the work of the women.

The Episcopal City Mission

The Episcopal City Mission of the Diocese of Missouri, a not-for-profit corporation, conducts programs of service in the field of child welfare without regard to race, color or creed. By-laws provide for membership from the clergy and lay persons of each parish who elect a Board of Directors to guide the affairs of the organization and to provide a competent staff to carry out its worthy purpose.

In July, 1965, Dr. Billy Sharp resigned as Director and The Reverend Edward A. Stevens was appointed to replace him. Mr. Stevens had been a pastoral counselor on the staff for three years and thus came ably equipped to furnish leadership. In February, 1966, The Reverend David L. Funk joined the staff of Youth Counseling Service as the second full-time pastoral counselor.

The principal purpose of the organization as stated in the articles of incorporation "shall be to benefit youth in the Metropolitan St. Louis area by

- (1) Providing Chaplaincy services for youth who are in custody of public agencies located within the City and the County of St. Louis . . . and
- (2) Providing professional youth counseling services within the Metropolitan St. Louis area . . . "

The Reverend William Finlaw, a full-time, trained institutional chaplain is provided to the City Juvenile Court. He ministers to the young people in the Juvenile House of Detention and to those committed to the City's two retraining schools: Missouri Hills School for Boys and Meramec Hills School for Girls.

The Chaplain's daily rounds bring him in contact with the many workers of the court, other professionals in the community, worried and anxious parents, and, above all, with the young people themselves. Over a six-month period for which statistics have been kept Mr. Finlaw conducted 957 interviews or conferences with 383 youngsters.

The second arm in the Episcopal City Mission outreach to troubled youth tries to prevent youngsters' initial or repeated brushes with the law. Staffed by pastoral counselors with considerable training and experience the Youth Counseling Service provides treatment for young people who are experiencing situational tensions, or personal anxieties. It is especially helpful for the youth in an acute phase of a mild adjustment disorder needing brief but prompt attention.

Professional standards, practices and certification of the staff are maintained at a high level in keeping with the requirements of the American Association of Pastoral Counselors and the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry. Six consultants in psychiatry are employed as well as the regular services of a psychological consulting and testing organization.

For the calendar year 1965, 212 new intakes were received at Youth Counseling Service. This represents an increase over last year despite the 50% reduction in staff from July through the end of the year. In all, a total of 1508 counseling sessions were held, compared with 1781 in 1964.

This coming summer Mr. Stevens will conduct a clinical training program for seminarians under the auspices of the Council for Clinical Training of which he is a member. This will provide an opportunity for up to six theological students to have an intense, supervised experience in learning psychological insights relevant to ministering in today's world.

Thompson Retreat and Conference Center

Ladue Exit from Interstate 244 is only one-third of a mile to our entrance. Neighboring subdivisions are in various stages of development, and within a few short years our 32 acres will be a veritable wooded oasis. So, finding ourselves in a "changing neighborhood", our Program Committee must exert its creative powers with enthusiastic imagination and experimentation.

Our present pattern of operation continues to be successful in terms of people using our facilities. Episcopalians, Presbyterians and 9 other denominations make this possible; we are grateful for their support. Almost every weekend is "booked" during the entire year, with certain periods available for Episcopalians and Presbyterians only.

The Thompson House Program Committee offers repeaters such as "Quiet Days for Women" during Lent, pastoral counseling seminars and dialogue between Roman Catholics, Episcopalians and Presbyterians. Last fall we had a most successful seminar on Communism led by Harry and Bonaro Overstreet.

We are very happy with the response to our Bookstore; its first year of operation was a successful one.

Soul-searching and unrest, which exists throughout the whole church, effects us also; and our Board, through the Program Committee, must also try to discover The Center's role in the whole scheme of things.

AUDITOR'S REPORT

The Board of Managers,
Thompson House Retreat and Conference Center,
Creve Coeur, Missouri.
Gentlemen:

In accordance with your request, I have reviewed the accounting records of Thompson House Retreat and Conference Center.

Extensive tests were made of cash receipts and disbursements according to proper auditing procedure.

As a result of these tests, it is my opinion that the statement of cash receipts and disbursements as presented reflects fairly the position of the Thompson House Retreat and Conference Center for the year ended December 31, 1965.

Yours very truly,

Episcopal-Presbyterian Foundation for the Aging, Inc.

The Episcopal-Presbyterian Foundation for the Aging was chartered by this Diocese and the Presbytery of Saint Louis in the fall of 1961. Today we have:

Assets .....	$3,060,000
Liabilities .....	$1,300,000
 Equity .....	 $1,760,000

In addition, we have about $130,000 in gifts from the Diocese and Presbytery and individuals, which we have placed in an Endowment Fund.

We have 123 residents at Tower Grove Manor and 165 at Gatesworth Manor, and on an operating budget of about $700,000 annually!

We have given assistance of some $9,000 on Life Residence Fees at the Gatesworth and $14,000 on said fees at Tower Grove Manor. We are giving monthly assistance of $600 as of this date.

1. Gatesworth Manor is operating at capacity and has a rather large waiting list. Through a special gift we have been able to sound-proof and carpet the dining room, and the Chairman of our Board of Directors, Mr. John M. Wolff, has given a chancel which is being built now. This will enhance the worship of God at the Gatesworth.
2. Tower Grove Manor was purchased in April 1964 to provide a facility that would give security and wholesome living to people sixty-five years and over. The services here are different than those given at the Gatesworth and the Life Residence Fees and monthly care charge are lower than at the Gatesworth. It was necessary to do extensive remodeling before this facility could be opened to the public. We built two lounges, a health office, a dining room, and a kitchen. This building was opened formally June 1, 1965. There are five vacancies in the building, which are efficiencies, and there is a waiting list for bedroom apartments. There will be an Open House on Sunday, May 1st, from two to five o'clock at Tower Grove Manor. All Episcopalians and Presbyterians are invited to come and see this project.
3. When it is financially feasible, the Board of Directors will begin another project. It will probably be a nursing home which will be owned by two churches and operated by the Foundation for the whole community and, of course, all the residents under our care would be placed there when needed.
4. The 126th Annual Convention of this Diocese passed a resolution asking the Foundation to "Make a study of the need and feasibility of housing for aging persons of limited resources and to report the result to the 1966 Convention." I regret that the report is not ready for this convention. It is being prepared now and will be presented to the Bishop. Since Tower Grove Manor had to be remodeled and public space provided and this took nine months, and since the Manor had to be filled, this has taken all of the time of the Director. The Foundation does not have money to pay for such a survey and we have had to depend on agencies such as the Health and Welfare Council to help us make this report. We know there is a definite need for some type of housing which is just above public housing, but if this Foundation seeks to provide services and housing at less cost than that of Tower Grove Manor, it would have to be subsidized or endowed. An official of public housing warned us two years ago that we, as a non-profit organization, should never get into competition with tax subsidized public housing or we could find ourselves in trouble.

It is my own personal hope, and I believe that of every member of our Board of Directors, that ultimately we can provide basic services and housing that can be in reach of people who have only social security.

The Director is willing to go anywhere in the Diocese to preach, to make addresses, or to lead discussions on the objectives of this Foundation.

We are deeply grateful for the prayers, interest, and support which have been given to this, your own project, by the Diocese.

Respectfully submitted,

BARNEY ELLIS MACLEAN
Executive Director

GFS, Society for Girls

The GFS, Society for Girls is a recognized organization for girls within the Protestant Episcopal Church which has had the tradition of service to the Church and the Community with a flexible program which seeks to meet the needs of today's girl.

In the past year in the Diocese of Missouri there have been over 150 girls and adults actively involved in the GFS program. There are branches in each of the following parishes with several having more than one group meeting on a weekly basis: St. Paul's, Carondelet, St. Paul's Overland, Trinity, St. Stephens and the Church of the Ascension. There is a Sponsor's group that meets weekly and is a supporting part of the program in Missouri. There is also an active Board which meets once a month, these members represent parishes all over St. Louis and St. Louis County.

With the National Assembly of GFS being held in Denver, Colorado, the end of June, the past year has been one of great activity in the Diocese with preparations being made to enable as many as can to go to Denver. "Denver here we come" is the theme song being sung by every GFSer from the youngest to the oldest in the Diocese. Missouri will have two women on the staff for the Workshops to be held daily during National Assembly, Mrs. William Moll and Mrs. Carol Stuart. Beside these two the Diocese will be represented by Mrs. Gloria Hartman, Miss Barbara Price, Miss Susan Lindsay, Miss Norma Geese, Miss Marilyn Alberty and Miss Anne L. Steele. We are very hopeful that several more may be added to this delegation before June.

During the past year the GFS girls and women were involved in the World Day of Prayer, the Mighty Mite Ingathering Service at Christ Church Cathedral, the Annual Meeting at Thompson House, and UNICEF Trick or Treat in the individual parishes and communities.

The GFS Society for Girl's purpose is to help girls understand what it is to be a Christian within their own particular life situation, and to provide opportunities by means of creative leadership to discover their own relationship with God, family, community and the World. We hope to work more closely with the Department of Youth nationally in order to strengthen the work of the Church with all young people.

VIRGINIA MOLL (Mrs. W. J.)
President, Diocese of Missouri GFS Board

St. Luke's Episcopal Presbyterian Hospital

CONCEPTION OF SERVICE A FOUNDATION FOR THE FUTURE — JOHN H. LASHLY, President, Board of Directors

In attempting to report to friends and to the public on the state of affairs at St. Luke's Hospital, the President of the Board has a recurring massive attack of humility. The symptoms become evident when, upon reflection, one realizes again the sense of dedication that is exhibited by those who make this Hospital great. I have heard this expressed more than once by persons who have been patients in other hospitals, some of which are noted for their fine physical plants and excellent medical facilities. At St. Luke's, they say, you have a name — not a number; you're a person, not just a case. Now, nothing can produce such a sensation in people more quickly than the sympathetic, humane, friendly spirit that is added to the high degree of competence possessed by medical, nursing, technical and administrative staff at St. Luke's.

We of the Board have as our principal responsibility the determination of basic policy which will serve as a framework within which the Hospital shall operate. We are concerned, too, with efficient planning, development and management, both business and professional. In the process of fulfilling these and other obligations, we are impressed with many things at St. Luke's, but it is significant that the aspect which impresses us most is the one I have already referred to and which has been characteristic of the Hospital since its very beginning 100 years ago. It is apparent at every level and in every category of St. Luke's operation, this genuine concern of all its people for the well-being of others.

The St. Luke's conception of service is the foundation upon which the Hospital has grown from its very modest beginnings to the institution we know today. Its success in the future will be determined in large measure by the ability of its leadership to continue building on these same solid footings.

This, however, could prove more difficult than it might first appear. In view of all the factors which must be considered in contemplating the future of hospital operations, it is easy to forecast that the second hundred years will be no easier than the first.

Almost immediately ahead, for example, among the problems to be met are those which will arise with the implementation of Medicare. The full implication of this vast program to hospitals like our own is not yet clear. We can nevertheless, be sure of its impact. Matters related to the care of those over age 65 constitute, however, only one aspect of the challenge which the coming years will bring. New concepts in the practice of medicine, the operation of hospitals, and techniques for the care of the sick generally are appearing rapidly upon the heels of research and social change.

While it would be less than realistic and downright foolhardy to minimize the significance of such developments now known to us and others which seem likely to follow, we who are concerned with the welfare of St. Luke's can take great comfort in the fact that the Hospital's position as we look to the future has never before been as strong.

We are exceedingly fortunate with respect to our physical readiness to take on new problems. While other work remains to be done, we saw at virtual completion by the end of 1965 the final phase of the modernization and expansion program as it was projected at its outset in 1951. Gifts toward the accomplishment of this work, which has involved a total expenditure of more than twelve and one-half million dollars, now exceed five and one-quarter million, and represent one of the Hospital's greatest assets—a huge reservoir of community good will and support.

The Medical Staff of St. Luke's are doing greater work than ever, not only in the maintenance of superior professional standards, but by providing a program of post-graduate medical education of ever-growing stature. The new 12-bed intensive care unit with unique facilities for the care of cardiac patients is an asset to the community that demonstrates the kind of advance thinking and planning that keeps St. Luke's in the forefront of medical competence.

The Hospital's Auxiliary and Volunteers are constantly finding new fields to conquer and new ways through which to demonstrate their dedication. The personnel organization is composed of loyal, capable people devoted to their work. The longtime application of sound fiscal principles to the institution's operations results in a healthy financial picture. Truly meaningful in a multitude of ways is St. Luke's affiliation with the Episcopal and Presbyterian Churches. This influence is apparent throughout. At Board level, there is an abundance of enthusiastic, informed leadership.

As we count such blessings as these, we are, to say the least, reassured. Within them lie all the many elements of strength which will be required for St. Luke's to move continually forward during the years of its Second Century of Community Service.

To have served as your Hospital's President for nearly two years now has indeed been a rare privilege. To all of the many who have helped to make that period such a rewarding one for me and one of further growth and progress for St. Luke's, I am deeply grateful.

SWEEPING CHANGE ALTERS PATTERNS OF THE PAST —

HARRY M. PIPER, Administrator

Statistics presented elsewhere in this Annual Report speak for themselves. In general, they reflect another year of operation during which the scope of the Hospital's service continued to grow.

Of significance, however, is the fact that, while in-patient volume in 1965 was just about the same as in the year before, sizeable increases were recorded in a number of ancillary areas including the laboratory, X-ray and pharmacy. Additional service to out-patients was largely responsible for this.

While the new medical office building, in its first full year of operation, was a factor here, the tendency of the public and the physician as well to look more and more to the Hospital for services on an out-patient basis is clearly evident.

Of high priority, among physical needs, therefore, are additional facilities to provide for more efficient handling of out-patients of both private and clinic categories. Fortunately, the status of other building projects is such that we can hope to proceed with such a program in the near future. As 1965 ended, plans were underway for the admission of patients to the remodeled second floor section of the old west wing. The first to be occupied was the new 16-bed, private room nursing division, and following shortly thereafter was the 12-bed intensive-coronary care unit.

It is of this latter area that we are especially proud. Designed to permit a concentration of personnel and equipment for the care of the most acutely ill of all categories, it features special installations for the benefit of the severe cardiac. Continual visual surveillance is combined with monitoring devices and a mobile heart-lung machine to provide the most modern facilities available for coronary care.

As might have been expected, increased operations of the Hospital in 1965 brought about increased expenses—a total of $5,562,333.35. Fortunately, however, income likewise rose to a new level, $5,619,538.43 to leave a balance of $57,205.08 in excess of expense. It is significant that these figures include the cost of free care in an amount of more than five-hundred thousand dollars toward which an allocation of $60,768.00 was received from the United Fund.

In its educational roles, St. Luke's continued in 1965 to strengthen its various programs. The National Intern Matching Program last Spring resulted in a full complement of interns, and resident positions were likewise filled. Our School of Nursing, the primary source of professional nurses to meet our own needs, graduated 59 in the September class, and at the same time enrolled 76 in the class of 1968.

At this particular point in St. Luke's 100-year history, the temptation is to relax and look back, but more than a glance is a luxury that will be denied us.

While ways can and will be found to meet the problems of the months and years ahead, they are of such complexity and magnitude as to require our fullest attention. They will demand to a degree, perhaps greater than ever before, that Trustees, Medical Staffs, Administrators, and all others involved in hospital operations work in closest concert utilizing all the leadership and resourcefulness they possess.

Throughout the first 100 years of St. Luke's operation, changes came, but gradually—despite the rapidity of medicine's scientific advance. Today, we are dealing with sweeping change from the patterns of the past, the full meaning of which is yet unknown.

This we do know, however. Nothing foreseeable will alter the ever-growing shortage of professional and technical people required. The demands for the services of such personnel are increasing at a rate far in excess of the additional numbers becoming available each year. Virtually everything on the horizon would appear to have the affect of further aggravating this problem of short supply not only for hospitals but for all other segments of the health field.

A further complication arises from the competition which hospitals face today for personnel of other categories as well. By virtue of industrial and commercial expansion, governmental programs, and other factors, the number of acceptable unskilled job applicants is also far less than adequate.

It is mandatory, therefore, that much of our administrative effort be concentrated in areas of recruitment, training, and utilization of personnel. We must continue more vigorously than ever our search for means by which greater numbers of people will be attracted to careers in the health fields and techniques enabling us to utilize those available more effectively—this without a lowering of standards or sacrifice of patient services.

It would be difficult under these circumstances, however, to foresee other than a further acceleration of the rate at which hospital costs have been moving upward. With salaries and wages accounting for the bulk of operating expenses, the effect on overall costs and charges is obvious.

These are only a few of the factors which cause us, even in this Centennial Year, to focus on the future rather than on the past. Friends of St. Luke's may be assured, however, that all of us involved with the Hospital's operations are deeply conscious of the challenge that lies ahead and of the responsibility it imposes.

The Registrar of the Diocese

The Registrar has continued to exercise the responsibilities as assigned by the Constitution of the Diocese — recording of official acts (ordinations, receptions, and dismissals of clergy, consecrations of churches, etc.) and the safekeeping of books, documents and archives belonging to the diocese and to some of the parishes and missions. This collection now includes some audiovisual records, microfilms and tapes. If finances permitted many of these archives would be placed on microfilm. The collection is stored away in some cabinets on the fifth and sixth floors of Bishop Tuttle Memorial

During the year the Diocesan Archives became a member of the Society of American Archivists and I attend occasional meetings of the local members.

Section VII of my projected history of the diocese, The Missouri Episcopate of Arthur Lichtenberger, appeared in the BULLETIN OF MISSOURI HISTORICAL SOCIETY in October. I am increasingly grateful to the Society for its willingness to publish these sections as I complete them. Except for an occasional article or item I have not found time to do extensive writing of history during the past year.

The advent of Medicare for persons over the age of 65 has brought to us a deluge of requests for records of baptisms in order to prove age and eligibility. Because we possess the Registers of all the closed and abandoned parishes and missions these requests come to us and usually we can provide the requested information. The study of old Registers is a fascinating one and the search for someone baptism date always gives me an opportunity to look further for other names.

Appendix No. 20
 THE EDUCATIONAL CENTER
 (The Episcopal Home For Children)
 Director's Report — May, 1966

That old lady, Mother Church, is certainly getting a lot of press these days. There seems little doubt that she's being rushed to the hospital, and all kinds, all kinds of specialists are being called in for diagnosis. What is really in doubt is whether she's caught in a fatal illness or whether she's in labor and thus involved in a highly creative act. Many have undertaken to diagnose and prescribe:

"She has hardening of the liturgy. Pull out the altar, modernize and polish up the jargon, sing it in swing."

"She has cirrhosis of the secular. Get out into the world — contend fearlessly against evil. Fight the good fights against racism, war, and poverty."

"She is in a depressive state over news of her Father's death. Resurrect God. Don't talk about God. Reconstitute God."

"She has water on the brain. Throw out the intellect. Drop the rational. Speak in tongues."

"Her senses are failing. Bring in the arts — dance on the altar, dramatize in the chancel, contemporize the structure."

"She has contusions of relationship. Disclose the agenda, maieuticize the leadership. Express your hostility boldly, but let her groups be groupy."

"She's got organizational paralysis. Change the forms. Down with provinces. Hurray for ad hoc committees."

"She's dismembered. Up with ecumenics."

"She has softening of the brain. Down with the Trinity. Up with the real treasure."

"Her memory is failing. Program the Bible. Enthroned the heritage."

With all this diagnosing and prescribing going on, one does wonder if the old lady will survive. For there is some validity in all this doctoring. With so many medicos around it is indeed brash to enter the consulting room and add to the confusion. But it would be less than honest not to do so — it just might be that she is pregnant and in the process of producing some ways of communication among her members which may have redemptive possibilities.

We don't have too much time. As Dr. Casserly pointed out recently, the cultural acceleration in which we find ourselves is all but incredible. Not so long ago a man could be born, live, and die in the same socio-economic cultural structure. Today a man of fifty is simply not living in the same world into which he was born. If he lives another twenty-five years, he'll be in a new world yet. As Heraclitus said, "You can't step twice in the same river." And one of his disciples added, "You can't even step once in the same river." Prophets indicate that automation in twenty years will make the forty-hour week obsolete. Someone has said, "By the end of the century, we'll have a one-hour week with a half-hour coffee break." What will happen with the new leisure? There are three innate human drives which may compete for the time: the sex drive identified by Freud, the power drive identified by Adler, and the drive for meaning identified by Jung. If this latter is in some way contiguous with the business of religion, this is no time for the Church to be sick. Nor is it any time for misoneism, which is identified as "an irrational fear of the new."

During the past thirty years the churches have been seriously engaged in exploring that part of their function which for lack of a better designation has been called "religious education." One might not be at all happy with this designation and yet be unprepared to offer a substitute. Be that as it may, there has been an enormous amount of time and energy (as well as the millions of dollars) poured into new curriculum enterprises. What are the results? To put it mildly, they are certainly less than dramatically successful. And it would seem that a large degree of that failure is due to a reluctance to depart from traditional concepts even though the traditional procedures in religious education have been condemned.

Perhaps a significant question is this: Am I, as educator, trying to make the Bible, the Church, and the liturgy meaningful — or am I trying to help some people discover the meaning of their lives? We say we want to do the latter, but we keep acting as if we were trying to do the former. The Bible is a great document, but we have absolutized it and idolized it to such an extent that we assume that mere exposure to this vessel automatically produces beneficial results. Meanwhile the treasure it contains gets lost. A question is now just beginning to be raised: Should we teach the Bible to children at all? Father Sloyan, a leading Roman Catholic educator has pointed out, "The Bible is a book of poetry for sophisticated adults." We could certainly ruin a child's capacity for literature appreciation if we forced Shakespeare, Milton, or Auden on him at the third grade level.

If life and its meaning is to be our area of concern, as it seems to have been Christ's concern, perhaps we can get some clues from his teaching ministry. (And we do have to read the Bible to find these.) First of all, he was not a teacher of Scripture as such. In all of his teaching in Mark's Gospel, for instance, he makes only fourteen Biblical references. He used whatever was at hand to help people face the reality of their lives — sheep, weddings, farming, politics, money, taxes, clothing, wine, building construction, jewels, economics. In fact in all the thirty-six parables, which provided his chief teaching method, he made not a single Scriptural reference.

Furthermore, his teaching was dialogic. He engaged people in conversation. There is little evidence that he preached many sermons as such. Even the so-called Sermon on the Mount has been identified by scholars as a series of disconnected sayings from different occasions that Matthew strung together in this way since the original contexts had been lost. Rather he talked with people about the things that were binding them, and he paid careful heed to their responses. Here was no teacher of abstract concepts. Here was one who challenged men to face themselves and the meaning and values of their lives. The emphasis was on each individual's inward search and journey. It is in the Gospel of Thomas, discovered only twenty-one years ago in Nag Hamadi in Egypt, that Christ is quoted as saying, ". . . he who knows not himself is in poverty, and he is poverty." (Perhaps this suggests a new term to replace "religious education" — the Poverty Program.) St. Clement of Alexandria put it pretty flatly when he said, "He who knows himself knows God."

Listen to what the second century Christian, Manóimus, wrote:

"Cease to seek after God as without thee, — in the universe and things similar to these.

Seek him from out thyself and learn who it is that once and for all appropriated all things in thee unto Himself.

And say, 'My God, my reason, my soul, my body' and learn whence is sorrow and joy and love and hate and waking, though thou wouldst not, and sleeping, though thou wouldst not, and being angry, though thou wouldst not, and falling in love, though thou wouldst not.

2) A second state of the process is the realization of my finite nature and the awareness that, being pulled about by opposing forces as I am, the problem is too much for me. This opens me to the search for meaning and value which takes me beyond myself — the search for an ultimate, a ground of being — God. I realize that this which I seek is ineffable — inexpressible — unutterable.

3) Then I am open to the discovery of myself in relation to the ultimate, life-giving symbols. A symbol is here defined as that which reflects the unsayable and is pregnant with meaning, as yet unborn. Furthermore it provides a reconciliation, a union of the opposites within one. Notice that while this is a reconciliation or union of the opposites (no better identified than in the configuration of the cross symbol itself), it does not mean a dissolution of the oppositeness (the arms of the cross still extend despite their unification at the central point.) One can never truly appropriate the symbol until he has lived into the experience which produces the tension out of which the symbol is born. Once all the meaning a symbol contains is known, it dies and is no longer a symbol.

The actual form of the symbol is important. It has its own form since it is a living thing and cannot be expressed in any other or better way. For the form itself is still only a vessel containing the treasure and is not to be absolutized nor worshipped. One is reminded that in the initiation rites of the Knights Templar the candidates had to throw the cross-bearing banner on the ground and trample it in the dust, identifying that they knew the difference between the vessel and the treasure. An interesting custom for an era we might assume to have been superstitious! It shows they knew something about the meaning of symbol.

4) Finally there is the acceptance of the transforming power, the assumption of a new attitude or attitudes, the living into the meaning that now dawns. A new ordering of life occurs which involves a positive response to that which has been revealed and a changing of one's self to meet the requirements of the new truth.

This four-step process is the basis of the Center's understanding of what life is all about. Religious education should provide a context within which each person can discover the possibility of seeking, pursuing, and actualizing this movement within his own life.
